Board Votes To Protect Stock Fish

by CHARLES JOHNSTON

The Antioch Village Board took action on Monday, May 5, to keep planned growth projects moving.

The rezoning ordinance for the planned Antioch Manor North development was approved by the board, subject to the receipt of plats and an unconditional line of credit from the First National Bank of Antioch. The line of credit will serve to guarantee to the village that all infrastructure (roads, water, sewer, etc.) will be put in at no cost to the taxpayers.

Antioch Manor North will be a residential development consisting of 104 multi-family units that will serve a population of approximately 750. The land is located on the west side of Rte. 83, north of North Ave., by the packing house.

Board approval was also given for the annexation ordinance that will bring in the Wennstrom property off Deep Lake Rd. The five acre parcel will be zoned residential. The owner plans to build a house on the site.

Bids were opened for the planned sewer interceptor. Lowest three bidders were: Car-Min of Gurnee, $174,800; G.W. Kennedy Construction of Wadsworth, $186,352; and Gustafson of Wadsworth, $195,723. The bids were referred to committee for study. Action on them is expected at the regular meeting of May 19.

Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz, announced that brush will be picked up every second Monday of every month. "We will not pick up trees and the brush must be set out by the curb," Sterbenz said.

All permanent village employees received a 3 percent wage increase for the next year. Action on this matter was taken at a previous meeting.

The board authorized the village attorney to get a legal description of all businesses on the east side of Main St. Eventually, the village plans to upgrade the business zoning of that section.

In an interesting sidelight, the board proposed that a fish ordinance be adopted for Cross Lake. If passed, the ordinance will limit fishermen to five large-mouth bass and five walleye per day. Fish less than 14 inches long will have to be thrown back.

The problem is that the village stocks Cross Lake with these fish and some people keep the young stock fish. Whether or not the ordinance will work is questionable. Fishermen may just carry their catch to the Wisconsin side of the lake and exceed the Antioch limit legally.

4 Hurt In 3-Car Crash

Unconfirmed reports have four people in Kenosha Memorial Hospital with serious injuries suffered in an accident that involved three cars occurring at 10:30 p.m., on May 2, at the intersection of Hwys. C and B in Wilmet.

The same unconfirmed reports have a Corvette, driven by Mathew Mercereau, 19, Antioch, crossing the center line as it was headed east on Hwy. C.

Mercereau's car reportedly struck another vehicle driven by Frederick Liebert, 44, Waukegan. Reportedly, a few minutes later, a third car driven by Steve Straukas, Trevor, also heading east on Hwy. C struck the Corvette. Straukas was not injured in the collision.

Mercereau remains in the hospital in fair condition with broken bones. Also in fair condition are Susan Sykes, 21, Lindenhurst, a passenger in his car and Amber Liebert, 7, Silver Lake, a passenger in the Liebert car.

Mercereau is allegedly expected to be charged with causing injury by the intoxicated use of a motor vehicle. The Kenosha County Sheriff's Dept. was unable to find the accident report to confirm these charges at press time.

Vocational Standouts

Four ACHS students who attend the Lake County Area Vocational Center won honors at the 22nd annual Illinois Vocational Industrial Clubs of America Skill Olympics in Springfield. They are, from left: Mike Stanek, second place in carpentry; Katrina Meyer, second place in cosmetology; Jeff Lacas, fourth place in small engine repair; and Brian Thoren, first place in plumbing. In addition to plaques and medals, some first place winners received scholarships, tools and equipment useful in their vocational field.

Improve Control Of Water Levels

by CHARLES JOHNSTON

Chain O' Lakes area boating enthusiasts are not having a great spring. Many are upset that the water level of the chain has been unusually low this year.

According to Chain O' Lakes Water Management Agency (CLWMA) Dir. Darrell Porter, the water level has been as much as two and one half feet low this year. "We are working with the Wisconsin Dept. of Natural Resources to articulate our needs with the Wilmot Dam," Porter said. "Improvements in the Wilmot and McHenry Dams should help improve our ability to control the water level."

CLWMA Chairman John Sofietti said that he has been working with the Illinois Dept. of Transportation's (IDOT) Division of Water Resources to resolve the problem. "The division of water resources has to work with two groups of people with different concerns," Sofietti said. "They have to balance between recreational needs and flooding concerns."

Sofietti said that certain dates have been set, based on the historical record of average rainfall, in which the level of the water in the Chain is brought down. This year has been unusually dry. People who have flooding problems are happy, but boaters and marina owners have been upset because they feel that the level has been allowed to get far too low.

Donald Vonnehme, director of the division of water resources, will be working with the CLWMA to consider adjusting the trigger dates for lowering the water level next year. Officials feel that perhaps the climate has changed enough to justify a change in the schedule of water control.

Sofietti added that a new type of gate may be put on the McHenry Dam next year allowing for faster control of water flow through the dam. If that happens, it would make it easier for the state to take a gamble on allowing the water level to stay a little higher.

ACHS Bands In Concert

Members of the Antioch Community High School Concert Band, Jazz Ensemble, and Symphonic Band will be featured in spring concert on Thursday, May 8, in the high school auditorium.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the concert band performing "La Polka de Paris," "Covington Square," composed by James Swearingen and "Toccata for Band."

Jackie Meyers, a flutist in the concert band, will play the first movement of "Telemann's Suite in A Minor" for flute and piano.

The next group to perform will be the jazz ensemble. They will play two selections from this year's variety show entitled "South 21st Street Shuffle" and "All of Me."

To close the concert the symphonic band will perform "Henderson Festival," "Greensleeves," "Selections from Oliver," "Psalm 46," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Tickets for this concert can be purchased at the door or can be obtained from band students. Adult tickets are $2, student tickets are $1.

Pupils Learn About Care

Who ever heard of pre-kindergarten children going to high school? It is happening at Antioch Community High School. The children are among 20 who are attending a special pre-school run by students of teacher, Glenda Stark's, child care and careers class.

The pre-school will run through May 29. It is held on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays from 8:55-10:40 a.m.

The class is designed to give students an introduction to child care and a general knowledge of child development. Each student takes a turn preparing the activities and lessons for the children, while the other students watch and help.

According to Stark, this is the largest group of pre-school children the class has had. "Normally we have four or five children. This gives our students a real pre-school atmosphere. Our students have enjoyed it. We are hoping to get three hours of pre-school next year," she said.

The class has taken the children on field trips to the police and fire stations.

Jaycees Look To An Active Year

The Antioch Jaycees held their annual installation dinner at Hoff's Columbia Bay tavern on May 1.

Outgoing Jaycee President Don Goodwin called the past year a time of trials and reeducation for the club. He said that the club had had problems early on with finances and the behavior of some members. On a more positive note, though, the club ended the year with 86 members, the highest membership in its history. Even more important, the Jaycees have begun a series of community projects that will make this year one of the most active and successful ever.

Scott Baumrueck, president of the Illinois Jaycees, told members that they have to believe in their club and that they should take pride in the accomplishments of their organization. "We do the things that no one else will do," said Baumrueck. "We clean up the parks, we clean up the rivers, we send the kids to camp that could not otherwise go, we help the people that no one else will help: that is what being a Jaycee is all about."

John Wadie, North Region Director for the Jaycees, said that last fall he was nervous when he got a call from Goodwin. "Your president told me that he was going to clean house," Wadie said to the members, "and that worried me. Usually when I get a call like that it means that the chapter is about to fold. In Antioch, though, he (President Don Goodwin) meant what he said. He straightened out the problems of the club and is leaving the new board with the strongest, most active club that Antioch has ever had. That is a real accomplishment and now it is up to you to carry on the good work that, together, you have begun."

Incoming President John Van Haecke thanked the club for their confidence in him and promised that, "with your help, I can be the best president the club has had. Our goal should be to be the best chapter in the state."

After a year that transformed them from a weak organization to a young, enthusiastically active group, the Antioch Jaycees are looking forward to a banner year.

Permit Denial Is A Breath Of Fresh Air

by CHARLES JOHNSTON

Villages of the upper Fox River area have won what many residents consider to be a major victory for the environment by cooperating to oppose issuance of a sludge permit to contractor Arnold May.

Richmond attorney, Don Stinespring, said that the villages of Spring Grove, Richmond, Sunnyside, Genoa City, and Twin Lakes, Wis. banded together to oppose May's application for permit. Also participating were Burton, Richmond, Randall, and McHenry Twp.

May had been dumping sludge at Hillview farms in Spring Grove for several years. According to Stinespring and other residents, the sludge was not being injected properly and was coming up between the furrows. This created an offensive odor that, under certain wind conditions, drifted up as far as Genoa City, Ill., and Twin Lakes, Wis. One resident, who asked not to be identified, said that it "stunk like hell around here whenever the wind was up."

May's application was originally denied by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) in January. May quickly appealed the decision and filed a new application, both of which were denied on April 22.

According to Stinespring, the help of the Illinois Attorney General's office was crucial in getting the denial. "According to Atty. Gen. Hartigan, May never had a permit," Stinespring said. "There were also numerous violations in how May has handled the sludge."

Residents believe that the decision of the IEPA will stick, though May could either appeal or re-apply.

Four attempts to contact May for comment at his office and home were unsuccessful.

Township, Village Work Together For Recreation

As in years past, Antioch Township will cooperate with the village of Antioch by paying for four employees in the parks and recreation department.

This arrangement offers benefits for everyone who lives in the Antioch area. Twp. Supervisor Jim Fields said that it costs about $6,500, but it allows residents of unincorporated areas of Antioch Twp. to take advantage of all parks and recreation programs at the same fee schedule as residents of the village of Antioch pay.

"Years ago," Fields said, "the village wanted to charge the higher out-of-district fees to people who lived in the township. This arrangement works out to both our advantage."

Antioch has a fine parks and recreation dept. that offers swimming, summer children's camps, and lovely parks. It is cheaper for the township to make use of these facilities than it would be to build separate parks. It also helps to ease the budget for the village to be able to send part of the park payroll to the township.

According to Glenda Tomaschlik, Antioch director of parks and recreation, the arrangement allows township residents to pay the same pool rates, camp program tuition, and membership fees as residents of the village. "It definitely works to the benefit of everyone," Tomaschlik said.

Pending village board action, the employees that the township pays for this year will probably be camp employees.

Janis McKoski, Cheryl Epner, Mary Reljic, Randi Baltz and Judy Mason, of the Chain of Lakes Area Branch of the Illinois Div. of the American Assn. of University Women (AAUW) attended the 62nd annual spring convention in Mattoon, Ill.

Keynote speaker, Kappie Spencer, AAUW Assn. director of women's issues, adressed the question, "Is There A Future For Women's Issues?" The answer was a resounding "YES!"

Focusing on the convention theme, "Personalize, Strengthen, Unify AAUW," four general sessions offered individual members opportunities to gain skills of benefit to them in AAUW as well as in other organizations.

The election of division officers, presentation of awards, and the showing of the film "The Women of Summer" were also included in the day's schedule. The Chain-of-Lakes Branch received an "honorable mention" for legislative activity during 1985.

First Mother's Day Feted In Grafton, West Va.

Believe it or not, there hasn't always been a Mother's Day!

Yet, so completely has Mother's Day been woven into the social fabric of modern America that it seems, today, just 78 years after the first Mother's Day was observed (in Grafton, W. Va.), that Mother's Day is as much a part of our heritage as Thanksgiving Day or July Fourth.

It was Anna Reeves Jarvis who caused the first Mother's Day to be celebrated, inspired by her love and admiration for her own Mother, by that time deceased three years.

Jarvis, living in Philadelphia at the time, first proposed the idea of a Mother's Day to some friends with whom she was visiting on the occasion of the anniversary of her Mother's passing.

Encouraged by their enthusiasm, Jarvis took the idea to John Wanamaker, the retail merchant prince of the day, who actively supported her crusade with his very important endorsement.

The first Mother's Day was, by today's standards, a very simple, if eloquent celebration, marked by a sermon preached in the village church of Grafton. Jarvis' vision of a remembrance was a letter, a carnation, a special visit or other quiet gesture that Mother would appreciate.

But, as she crusaded for her "cause," Mother's Day was grasped and enlarged in concept "by popular demand." Though Jarvis saw Mother's Day as an occasion for serious contemplation and reflection on memories of things past, her voluminous letter writing, her dedicated "lobbying" for her recognition of her dream, led to its early recognition.

In April, 1910, Gov. William E. Glassman of West Virginia proclaimed Mother's Day a state holiday. By 1912, Jarvis had become so identified with Mother's day that she was generally accepted as its "authoress."

Success followed success. Congress, by joint resolution, made Mother's Day a national holiday in 1912, to be celebrated thereafter on the second Sunday of each May (the anniversary of Jarvis' demise) by which time Jarvis had been generally credited as the founder of Mother's Day.

President Woodrow Wilson signed the first President Proclamation in that year, ordering the observance of Mother's Day in the United States and all its possessions.

The explosive growth of the Mother's Day concept created great emotional trauma for Jarvis, who ultimately became obsessed with the development and inspirational celebration of her ideal, even showing signs of resentment over its nationalization, over commercialism.

But, that America has taken her idea to heart is clearly confirmed by over 90 percent of the country annually celebrating Mother's Day with gifts, visits, telephone calls, photographs, dining out and dining in with Mother as the guest of honor.

Mother's Day is a special day of reverence and respect. Not just in America, but in most of the western world. All because Jarvis persisted in her dedication to her mother's memory. By the time Jarvis died in 1948, Mother's Day had "grown like Topsy" and beyond the purview of its founder to control or manipulate.

Mother's Day had become a public trust and heritage, enjoyed by tens of millions of mothers, lavished over by hundreds of millions of sons and daughters and husbands and relatives.

There still stands in Grafton, W. Va., the little country church, where the first Mother's Day dawned on the modern world. It was dedicated as a national shrine on 1962, and is supported and maintained by public subscriptions.

1986's Mothers Are Contributors Plus

Mothers, confined to the hearth and home after their offspring leave the nest for school, now often find themselves frustrated by the monotony of housekeeping. This is particularly true since educational levels have risen, and the tedium of day time tv "soaps" becomes a boring opiate on a day-after-day diet.

Let's face it. Today's Mothers are "different." They're activists in a way that their parents and grandparents never envisioned. They are vitally interested and involved in our complex socio-economic culture, caught up in the dizzying pace of life near the close of the 20th century.

They are full time participants in all that goes on out in the world, much as their ancestral counterparts, living in crude log cabins on the western plains, shouldered the chores and the burdens of that rough life their families were hewing from the vast unsettled tracts of a bursting United States.

Today's Mothers have taken on the same responsibility to pitch in and help but, instead of aiming a Remington, they're now programming a computer, governing a city, arguing a case before a court or debating ERA in the Senate.

Life has changed for Mother, but really in degree, not in kind. Her responsibilities have mutated and altered under the pressure of sophisticated living, but essentially, she's still "Mom," beloved, responsive, responsible, respected.

Mother's Day is a day for the nation to show it is supportive of Mother's new self-respect, new aspirations, new achievement, as an arm-in-arm equal in a society that needs all she has to contribute, to the home, to the economy and to the country.

Look Out Or Audrey II Will Get To You Too!

Stage Review

by GLORIA DAVIS

"Little Shop Of Horrors," Candelight Dinner Theater's latest production, is a masterpiece of theatrical technology and the man-eating plant, Audrey II, is the most lovable monster since ET.

Loud and resounding plaudits are richly deserved by Audrey II's two alter egos, Brian Lynch, her arms, legs, etc., and Gordon McClure, her singing and acting voice.

If you don't think that the tale of a man-eating plant that thrives on human blood and eventually devours almost the entire cast is a funny one, you will after you see Candelight's production.

This horror-tale spoof has more than its fair share of laughs, due not only to the clever script, but also to the faultless delivery of the cast members.

Audrey II, the carnivorous piece of horticulture, of course is the star of the show, as she grows from a demure table model till she engulfs the entire center stage.

Hollis Resnick, one of Candelight's resident bundles of talent, plays the ill-fated Audrey I ala Adelaide of Damon Runyon fame, to the delight of the audience.

Dale Morgan's many strong performances (since he plays several roles) are as perfect in their mold as is the wimpy emoting of Gene Weygandt's, Seymour, the plant genius that creates the blood-sucking namesake of his true love.

Morgan's rendition of "Now (It's Just The Gas)," as the mad dentist is a rib-tickling show stopper.

Malcolm Rothman does a pleasing job of turning the shopkeeper, Mushnick into an S.Z. Zerkal character out of a 1950's 20th Century Fox musical.

Paula Newsome, Ora Jones and Kathi Riddle glow behind the footlights as they musically thread their way throughout the show with their most enjoyable version of the Shirelles.

I loved the beat of the 1960's musical aura that permeated the show's score, adding to the enjoyable absurdity of the whole thing.

If you're in the mood for some unique fun, or looking for a way to lighten the blues and drown your sorrows, try doing some flower shopping at Mushnicks.

'Cotton Patch' Heading For Opera House

Woodfest, at the historic Woodstock Opera House, will present "Cotton Patch Gospel," a bluegrass musical by the late Harry Chapin, for a six week run July 18-Aug. 24. The Woodstock Opera House, 121 Van Buren St. in Woodstock, will host the first fully-staged professional production of this musical and will feature the Chicago based bluegrass band, "Special Consensus." Based on Clarence Jordan's book, "The Cotton Patch Version of Matthew and John," this production was written by Tom Key and the musical's director Russell Treyz, and includes the last music and lyrics composed by the late Harry Chapin.

The Woodstock Opera

House, a 400 seat auditorium built in 1890, operates year-round featuring music, theatre, dance and special attractions. Major restoration in 1976 has let it remain one of the classic examples of mid-Victorian theater architecture and it is now listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

The facility is handicapped-accessible and fully air-conditioned. Woodstock, is located approximately 55 miles north west of the Chicago Loop, 13 miles north of I-90 on Rte. 47.

Performance times July 18-Aug. 24 are Wednesdays and Thursdays at 1:30 p.m., Fridays at 8:30 p.m., Saturdays at 5 and 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m.

For ticket reservations and information, please call the Woodstock Opera House box office at (815) 338-5300 noon to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

400 To Display Crafts

Mother's Day weekend couldn't be planned better than Craft Fair USA, on May 10 and 11, at Wisconsin State Fair Park, Milwaukee.

Astrologist Carol Rushman, WTMJ's Gordon Hinckley, fashions that make a statement, and exercising techniques are part of the planned activities.

The entertainment starts jumping with Jazzercizes at 11 a.m.

Today's fashion dictates keeping in shape too! At noon and 2 p.m., be alerted to the new summer fashions by Bischoff Studio models.

Carol Rushman watches the astrological charts from Aquarius to Capricorn, and the positions of planets affecting everybody.

Replica To Come To Hawthorn

The "White House" replica in miniature is an exact one-inch-to-one foot scale reproduction of the White House in Washington, D.C. It's an exciting and educational exhibit that is being introduced to the American people at Hawthorn Center in Vernon Hills, Friday, May through Sunday, May 18.

Creator, John Zweifel, who prides himself on his old world craftsmanship of carving, had a dream of producing an authentic miniature model of the White House. His dream became a reality after a quarter of a century, $500,000 and some 400,000 hours in the making, the "White House" replica is the culmination of his desire to carve a lasting piece of historical art which captures one of the most timeless symbols of our nation's heritage.

The miniature "White House" is over 60 feet long, with 25 authentically reproduced rooms and 10,000 miniature pieces. Every attempt has been made by Zweifel to provide a historically accurate model of the White House. Hand-carved furniture is constructed of the same woods as the originals. Paintings have been matched for exact colors and textures.

Telephones actually ring, quarter-inch television sets work, clocks keep time, hundreds of tiny lights, from the chandeliers to the hand-blown lamps and light switches turn on and off. The life-like detail is so exacting, it's almost as if you were actually there...at the White House.

The "White House" replica is a labor of love, it's John Zweifel's patriotic tribute to the American people. Its 50 state and European tours has enabled millions of people throughout the world to enjoy for the first time, the beauty and grandeur of the home of presidents.

Some lucky person may win a free seven day trip to Washington, D.C. for a family of four just by registering between 9-18 at the registration booth near the White House in miniature replica.

Other prizes are a Play-Pak Combination for a family of four (two adults and two children) which includes overnight lodging and current play, courtesy of Marriott Lincolnshire Resort and an overnight stay at the Gurnee Holiday Inn, breakfast at the famous Zachery Restaurant and to tickets to Six Flags Great America for a family of four.

Exhibit hours are: Monday-Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Pedersen Returns

Lloyd Pedersen comes home to Antioch once again, this time to sing for the Antioch Mental Health Cotillion May 17 at Harbor Ridge.

The singer/actor, who now resides in Burbank, Calif., interrupts a very busy schedule on the west coast to fly in for this event.

He will be finishing up the run of "Same Time Next Year" in which he stars at the Park Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles the weekend before the Cotillion and then a one-night engagement at the Beverly Hilton Hotel to benefit the L.A. Children's Burn Center.

Soon afterward he will be rehearsing for the opening of the musical "How To Succeed In Business" at the Morgan-Wixson Theatre in Santa Monica for a summer run.

Too busy to come home? "Never," Lloyd says, "I love coming home and look forward to singing for my hometown audience."

A special congratulations to Julie Groh and Judy Fechtner for a job well done as chairpeople for this event. A special thanks to all the workers whose help was crucial to this event. What great community spirit!

Another great event that took place last week at Grass Lake School was the fourth annual Fine Arts Festival. The program started out with the fourth grade band playing Arch of Triumph under the direction of Mrs. Saltman. The advanced band then played Chant and Celebration, Blues March and the Lone Star Overture. Mrs. Coia's first grade class presented the play, "Poppy Seed Cakes," with Paul Grob as "Andrushek," Renee Hackney as Auntie Katushka and Daniel Wiegel as the Greedy Green Goose. The entire first grade class participated in the dancing and songs. The costumes were made by Jeanne Hines and Trudy Grob and the scenery was designed by the junior high set design class.

The fourth and fifth grades continued the program with Food Glorious Food, Sixteen Going On Seventeen and the Candyman. The kindergarten class sand Lollipop Tree and Animal Crackers. The second and third grades did their rendition of Candyland, Merry-Go-Round, Big Rock Candy Mountain, and a Spoonful of Sugar. The musical portion of the program ended with the advanced music group singing On the Good Ship Lollipop, Put on Your Sunday Clothes, Toot Sweets, and Happiness.

Once the musical portion of the program had ended, everyone was invited to tour the school and enjoy the displays of creative work by students in every grade. In the art room, Mrs. Cynde Vandrush had her junior high students give demonstrations on macrame, printing, drawing, etc. The intermediate students presented "Step into the Future." Cyborg robot constructions greeted you as you entered the hallway. Robots and aliens were busy distributing coloring books prepared by the junior high drawing class for the little visitors.

The media center contained a display of pottery and a jungle full of animals and other creatures created by the kindergarten and second grade students. Special thank you to Sue Towns, Antioch Community High School art department, who was the judge. She really had a job to do by selecting a first, second and third place winner for each grade.

Congratulations to the following students who were lucky enough to be chosen as one of the top three. (I will give them in order of first, second and third place) kindergarten: Joshua White (portrait), Tai Chinn (clay), and Candice Kaprzhoh (shape creature); first grade: Curtis Munner (clay), Dale Kitto (weaving), and Donny Wiegel (pastels); second grade: Marc Fechtner (teddy bear), Jamie Bruasam (clay), and Sarah Harmon (same day wax); third grade: Chris Haling (mobile), David LaForge, John Kasprzak (gold); fourth grade: Lane Summer (robot), Jennifer Mosier (crystal ball), and Tony Gardien (snowflake); fifth grade: Monica Madden (crystal ball), Missy Olenick (closet), and Aimee Kitto (space print); sixth grade: Mark Cole (linoleum print), Mike Quast (enlarging), and Matt Fleshman (enlarging); seventh grade: Jenni Vandrush (hands and feet), Theresa Heoppner (acrylic), and Tiffany Christoupolous; eighth grade: Cathy Cramer (enlarging), Carl Campbell (acrylic) and Brian Weeks (slab pot). The best game was called "Killer Food," and was made by Richie Castillo and Danny Naughton, both in the fifth grade.

Sunday, April 27, was a special day for those children from the Grass Lake Area who made their first holy Communion at St. Peters church in Antioch. They are: Jamie Brausam, John Kasprzak, Sandy Benes, Kelley Brausam, Andrea Gallegos, Margaret Plepacki, Brandie Wennerstrom, Kari Fahnenbacher, Lisa Priller, Matthew Fleming and Sarah Harmon.

Brownie Troop 1366 had an exciting April. On April 14 they went on a tour of Floral Acres as a requirement for their Green and Growing Patch. They were shown how the green houses are run from planting seeds till the plants are ready to be sold. The tour ended with the guide demonstrating how to make a floral arrangement. On April 30 the troop participated in the Salvation Army clothing drive. This was a service project. The Salvation Army expressed a need for clothing, especially for children. The Brownies gathered a lot of clothes to donate to the army and they will receive a patch for their efforts. With Spring in the air, the Brownies were busy planting marigolds and blue pansies at Grass Lake School. It was their way of saying, "thank you," for the use of the school facilities through out the year.

P & B Ceramics will be having a special ceramic summer school for kids from June 11 to July 2. This special, just for kids, will cost $20 and two projects will be completed. They will meet once a week from 11 a.m. till 2 p.m. and will be asked to bring a sack lunch. Call (312) 395-7813 for more information and to enroll for this special class.

Clerk Hess Lining Up Reelection Committee

Lake County Clerk Linda Hess, beginning her campaign to be the second Democrat reelected in the history of Lake County, has announced the line-up of her reelection committee.

"I am most happy to have such a distinguished group of Illinois political leaders heading my reelection bid," said Hess. "There is no doubt that I am an 'endangered species' as the only Democrat in the courthouse, and we must never let the election machinery be in the hands of the party that owns every other job in the courthouse, she added. "Good government requires a check and balance on the party in power," she noted.

United States Sen. Alan J. Dixon will serve as honorary chairman of the campaign. In accepting the chairmanship, Dixon said, "Linda Hess has done an outstanding job for Lake County in preserving the two-party system. We Democrats intend to make an all out effort to keep her in the Courthouse."

State Rep. John Matijevich, of North Chicago, and former State Rep. of Highland Park,

Daniel Pierce, will serve as campaign co-chairmen. Campaign coordinator will be Michael Duffy of Ingleside, a former Lake County assistant state's attorney currently with the law firm of Gardner, Carton and Douglas. Serving as head of Hess' advisory committee will be State Rep. Grace Mary Stern, former long-time Lake County clerk. Barbara Lumber, of Round Lake, will Chair the finance committee with Bob Furtkamp, of Zion, serving as Treasurer.

Hess said township coordinators and advisors will be named later. People interested in helping the Hess campaign can call Hess at (312) 680-8019.

Hart Shows Strength In Lake County Win

by JOHN STEINKE

In the March primary, two ultra-conservative Lyndon H. LaRouche followers won two statewide Democratic nominations. They included Mark Fairchild for lieutenant governor and Janice A. Hart for secretary of state. Both candidates have been repudiated by the party leadership.

Hart defeated Aurelia Pucinski, the party's slated candidate for secretary of state and the daughter of a prominent Chicago alderman. The 31-year-old Hart asserted at her victory press conference: "We will roll our tanks down State Street, and make sure every citizen is armed, with reason and beauty. We will hang traitors and hang people who are responsible for feeding our people drugs..."

Hart announced: "He (LaRouche) will put the fear of God in people like Henry Kissinger and the State Department, the biggest hotbed of treason in this nation since Aaron Burr killed Alexander Hamilton." She also observed: "My method is the method of Joan of Arc." Hart concluded that "Nuremberg tribunals" were necessary for drug dealers, bankers and other "boys at the top."

Hart was arrested for disorderly conduct last year. She allegedly disrupted a speech by Milwaukee Archbishop Rembert Weakland in a suburban Chicago synagogue and presented him with a large piece of liver meant to symbolize "a pound of flesh."

Lake County Democrats voted for Hart in the March 18 primary. Hart garnered 4,719 votes to Pucinski's 3,220. Hart polled 59.4 percent of the vote compared to Pucinski's 40.6 percent. Among Lake County's 10,342 Democratic voters, 2,403 didn't register any preference in the Hart-Pucinski contest. Thus, 23.2 percent of the party's electorate didn't cast a ballot in the secretary of state's race.

Hart carried 14 out of Lake County's 18 townships. She captured four twps. with Democratic enclaves: Avon, Deerfield,

New High Tech Center

In the years to come around here, May 1 will be remembered as more than Arbor Day. May 1 will be remembered as the date the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board dramatically reversed itself and flashed the greenlight for approval of the petition from Chicago Medical School located in North Chicago to build a new trauma one and tertiary care hospital in Lake County.

The $50 million health care project, to be carried out jointly with Humana Corp., has been a medical, social, political and economic hot potato for a long time. Now that the proposed hospital is on its way to becoming a reality, it can rightly be stated that the proposal didn't have to be and never should have been controversial. But like so many social advances, a variety of individual self interests came into conflict with the hospital plan and the sparks flew.

What predictably will happen now is that the day CMS/Humana Hospital opens its doors is that this locality immediately will become a key regional, if not national, medical high tech center. That will be a fact not only because the hospital, to be built on Green Bay Rd., will be the nation's newest and most modern trauma one and tertiary care center, but because of all the other outstanding hospitals and health care facilities located hereabouts.

Robert Byrne, president of the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the citizens committee that has been working for nearly two years to win approval of Chicago Medical School's certificate of need, probably put it best when he declared, "Networking is the key to prosperity of all concerned." Byrne envisions patients coming to Lake County from all over the nation. The impact on the local economy will be enormous, he stated flatly. This area will become identified with the best in health similar to the Houston, Texas, heart and cancer center, and the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Exciting days are ahead. The best thing is that everyone presently associated with the local health care industry can make an important contribution.

Scuttling Reform

Illinois is one of only six states that continue to use dual district school systems. Pennsylvania is going unit district so Illinois will soon be one of five.

Other states went to the mandatory unit district system because, very simply, it costs less and works better. The schools are able to provide a coordinated program from kindergarten through high school. Schools also tend to spend less on administrative costs because it is a more efficient system. The less money that is spent on administrative costs, the more that can be spent on students.

In Lake County alone, residents of unit districts pay about fifty cents less per hundred dollars of assessed valuation than do residents of dual districts. That is a difference of about $135 for the average homeowner.

Illinois was going to the unit district system until the legislature gutted the school reform act earlier this year. Elementary school administrators joined with high school teachers in lobbying against the legislation and representatives in Springfield caved in. Administrators were concerned that there would be fewer jobs to go around and high school teachers, who are generally paid better than elementary teachers, were afraid that this would mean a slowdown in wage increases. Of course, the educational special interests were smart enough to know that they could not say it quite that bluntly.

Lakeland Newspapers received a superintendent's newsletter from a local elementary school that classically illustrates the illogical thinking of opponents of this bill. On the front page, the superintendent boasts about the grass roots victory over school consolidation. On page two, he explains the cutbacks that will have to be made next year because of financial problems.

Perhaps we would all be better off if we went to the unit system and those who are paying the extra $135 in school taxes every year continued to pay them - but into an unemployed administrators' fund. It might not solve all our problems, but the kids would sure get a better deal.

Solving Insurance Crisis

If ever a public problem cried for a solution in Illinois it's the current insurance crisis. Many businesses are threatened with closing their doors. Some firms are operating without liability coverage. Everyone is looking to the General Assembly for relief from excessive rates and bankrupting claims. Local governmental units have not been exempt from the pressures of not being able to obtain liability coverage.

It's encouraging to see support coming from all corners to overhaul the Illinois civil justice system and put tort reform legislation in place. It's even more encouraging to see the groundwork forming for a bipartisan approach to bringing about a solution. The insurance crisis certainly is of such magnitude that normal politics would be abhorrent.

The insurance mess boils down to the fact that juries simply have to deal with lawsuits in a different way and place limits on the amounts of settlements that can be awarded.

The situation isn't hopeless. A great many meritorious proposals have been advanced to correct inequities. Joint and several liability should be abolished. A comparative negligence law should be established so that a plaintiff who is more than 50 percent responsible for his injuries will be barred from recovery. Employers should be protected from "double" suits possible under present worker's compensation laws. Limits must be placed on non-economic losses like pain and emotional distress.

The present climate of crisis and confusion affords constituents an unusual opportunity to press their representatives in Springfield to enact meaningful tort reform. If you've ever thought about writing a letter or contacting your representative, now's the time. Everyone has a role to play in solving the Illinois insurance crisis.

Life And Work A Matter Of Adding The Joys

by BILL SCHROEDER

By any standard, Dan Spahn is old-fashioned. He and his son, Bob, operate an independent supermarket with such quaint ideas that customers should be treated swiftly and courteously at all times, checkers should know how to add and subtract and that employees owe the boss an hour's work for an hour's pay. Sounds pretty Neanderthal!

Dan takes special notice of job applicants who arrive on time, are dressed neatly and cleanly (not necessarily in an Easter Sunday outfit), respond alertly to questions and listen attentively. Since prospective employees are likely to come in contact with his customers, Spahn is partial to friendly applicants.

The Spahn store, Paul's Supermarket on Center St., Grayslake, is an extension of the owner's personalities. There's an abundance of neighborly chatter, a few wise cracks and once in awhile some good-natured ribbing. Ninety-nine out of 100 shoppers enjoy the banter. The grouchy one goes to another store next time.

"Sure, we kid around. That's the way I am. Most people get a kick out of it," remarks Spahn, who has been in the food business since getting discharged from the Air Force after World War II. The son of a journeyman meat cutter, Spahn learned the supermarket business and the old-time American work ethic by doing everything around the store. He believes he got an excellent education. He delights in passing on his experience to young people.

In today's fast-paced, impersonal society, Spahn feels young people are getting short-changed. He's concerned about their attitudes toward work and the fact that so many of them are unprepared for a job. "Is it asking too much for job applicants to be able to do basic arithmetic?" Spahn asks incredulously. "I can tell you a lot of horror stories," the fast-talking businessman remarked as he produced a simple test given to job applicants on calculations typical for shoppers. The test has 30 questions. "Would you believe? We've had as many as 27 errors. Passing is a half dozen errors or so."

Store arithmetic, Dan calls it, and there are questions involving pricing, figuring percentages and discounting.

Spahn is upset when applicants fail the test. He and Bob love their work. Serving the public in a supermarket is the greatest job in the world. Dan is saddened when a job seeker is going to miss the pleasure he has experienced working all his life by a poor test score.

A laugh, a smile. That's life and it might as well be work, too. But you've got to be able to add up the joys, as far as Dan Spahn is concerned. Otherwise, you're missing a lot, according to this old-fashioned guy.

Gyp Prevented

Editor:

During the late afternoon of April 26, I received a telephone call from a police officer from the Village of Lindenhurst. The officer related to me that an elderly lady in the Village had given two men a check in payment for the sealcoating of her driveway. The two men had charged the lady nearly $800 for what is normally undertaken for less than $100. It seems the lady's neighbors had become concerned, and after discovering the details, informed the police. The check was intercepted by a bank employee who notified the police who, in turn, intercepted the two men.

The bad news here is that people are susceptible to this type of occurrence, and that there are others who prey on that susceptibility.

The good news is that, as of this writing, the lady and her money had been protected, and the police were questioning the two men.

The police and the bank employee functioned admirably, as is their job. But the laurels go to the neighbors who did a different type of job; the humane job of caring.

I do not know who the neighbors are, and I am certain they did not act for publicity or reward, but I am sure reassured in knowing they, and others like them, are there.

Opposes High Density

Editor:

I am a homeowner at 31165 N. River Rd., Gurnee, and have resided here for the past 21 years.

I chose to purchase my home on River Rd. because it was located in the country, a peaceful area abundant in natural features.

I have recently learned that a high-density development is being planned for River Rd.

This type of development truly will change the beautiful, rural, peaceful surroundings. Not only will a high-density development bring crime, pollution, excessive traffic, but will also create an additional tax burden on the original residents, higher school taxes, road repairs and other negative results.

Please help in preventing any high-density development from being built on River Rd.

Losing Identity

Editor:

To Zion, neighborly city, a peaceful community established some 80 years under a doctrine of a lively hope and consolation, comes an atheist passerby to upset the foundation and roots of a Christian city! And in the disguise of the Constitution's "separation of church and state". Actually, the First Amendment makes no mention of a "wall of separation between church and state."

Not long ago St. Charles was attacked because of a cross atop a public building! Might we in our village be immune to a like fate because of our Christian name Antioch? We have a right to our identity!

What is happening to America? Founded on a Constitution that set it above its peers, America is losing its identity!

Many foreigners desire to become American citizens. Is our Constitution constrained to accommodate ideologies of the third world or atheism? We need to preserve our identity! Abraham Lincoln said, "Four-score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—a government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth!"

'Retiree' Fills Hours With Volunteer Work

by GORDON CRANDALL

One would never know that Elmer Steele of Leisure Village is a "retired" person. True, he does not have a "nine to five" job but he might as well, for all his volunteer activities, both for the village and for Fox Lake. He is a very busy man.

On May 8, Steele will receive one of the first National Community Service Awards, a certificate from the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP). As vice-president of AARP Chapter 2229 of Leisure Village, he was nominated by the board of directors for his outstanding volunteer contribution to the community.

This new AARP award was established to coincide with National Volunteer Week, April 20 through 27, and to recognize the contributions of thousands of volunteers in 3,500 AARP chapters. With more than 21 million members, AARP is the nation's largest organization of Americans age 50 or older.

Of his many volunteer activities, perhaps Elmer's most important one from a humane standpoint, is his weekly "coaching" of 16 blind bowlers. For the past 10 years, Elmer and his wife, Esther, have helped totally or partially blind bowlers every Saturday at Kristof's Lanes in Round Lake. Currently there are 12 men and women bowling with Elmer's help.

This is the method of instruction: Elmer has one team of six bowlers and Esther also has a team of six. There is a rail on the left side of the lane approach for those totally blind. They hold on to the rail with their left hand, walk up to the foul line and roll the ball down the alley. Elmer or Esther tells them how many pins they hit, how many are left and their position for the spare roll.

Some of the other bowlers with either partial or tunnel vision can use the other lanes without the rail. The group uses a total of four lanes.

When we observed these blind bowlers in action one Saturday, we saw several strikes and spares rolled. The shrieks of joy and the smiles on the faces of the bowlers as the pins fell, gave us an idea of the worth of the Steeles' contribution to these handicapped persons.

Besides this valuable volunteer work, Elmer has had quite a few other credits worthy of mention. They include the following:

- Organized the Leisure Village AARP Chapter 2229 in 1975, was president for three terms and for the past three years has held the office of vice-president;

- Taught a "Rules of the Road" driving class in Leisure Village for several years in cooperation with the Secretary of State's office, and also taught a course in defensive driving;

- Organized the annual benefit dance for the Fox Lake Rescue Squad with the village donations for that invaluable group;

- Takes Leisure Village residents to the Winchester House in Libertyville to play games with the shut-ins and give them gifts;

- Past member of the Fox Lake Planning Commission and the village zoning board;

- Current chairman of the village block captains' committee;

- And acted as hostmaster of the village host and hostess committee in 1974, showing prospective buyers model homes and recreational facilities available at Leisure Village.

- President of the village bowling league for two years and his wife, Esther, the capable secretary for the same period.

- Chairman of the Swedish Glee Club promotion committee in Waukegan.

These accomplishments should be enough to last a lifetime for anyone; but Elmer, at 76, has no intention of slowing down in spite of some present infirmities.

Elmer was born in Chicago in 1910. He is a graduate of Lindblom Technical High School on the south side of Chicago.

In the 20 years before his retirement, he did refrigeration service, handling maintenance calls and making repairs in the shop. He was service manager during the last seven years of his employment.

The Steeles owned a big house in Mundelein for 27 years before moving to Leisure Village, in 1974. Their reasons for moving to the village is the same as those of many of the other residents — they found their house and grounds too much for them to manage as they advanced in years. Condo living with no maintenance worries looked good to them.

Elmer loves the village for these reasons: "Above all the maintenance (cutting grass and shrubs, shoveling snow and house repairs) here gives me more time to pursue my volunteer programs. And our security gates give me peace of mind. The majority of our residents are very friendly. The dances and other social events are also a plus."

It's always interesting to know how a married couple first met. In this case, Elmer was the best man and Esther Quarnstrom was maid of honor for a friend's wedding in March, 1930. Was it love at first sight, we asked. Elmer's not sure, but it did take a while to bloom — four years to be exact. They married June 23, 1934, so the couple will celebrate 52 years of wedded bliss this June.

The Steeles' have one daughter, Karen Mickley, of Grayslake. She is manager of the key punch department of Ducks Unlimited, in Hawthorne Woods.

They are proud of four grandchildren. William is in the U.S. Navy, David is in the Army, Shari is a senior at Grayslake High School, and Brian is a sophomore there.

Are E & E planning something BIG for their 52nd anniversary? Elmer was noncommittal on this, but he figures it would be hard to beat their 50th celebration, when they took a cruise of all the Hawaiian Islands, stopping off on four of them.

The blind bowlers recently ended their season. They held an awards banquet and Elmer handed out the prizes, probably to all of them.

Elmer had only this to say of these men and women who will not let their handicaps get them down: "They're gutsy. I love them all." You can be sure the feeling is mutual with his pupils.

Blindness No Handicap

To Leisure Village's Elmer Steele, helping others is a hobby. He assisted blind bowlers at Kristof's Entertainment Center in Round Lake Beach last month. Here, the bowlers show that being blind is no handicap. —Photo by Craig Vogel.

Everything You Wanted To Know About Artichokes

There must be an age-old question one asks about artichokes: Is the preparation worth the trouble?

The culinary reviews, most assuredly, are mixed. For instance, when I prepared a half-dozen French artichokes, my wife observed: "They sure are a pain to eat."

Anita endured the pain while polishing off two.

French artichokes are nicknamed globes, in my book, because they resemble Mother Earth on an axis.

While French artichokes are available year-round, the peak supply runs from March to May. While brown spots may mean frost damage, they only spoil the appearance and are harmless. When the hard-tipped leaves begin to spread or are open, however, the artichokes are past their prime.

So select firm, heavy globes with compact leaves that display a good, green color.

When you're ready to go to work:

Remove discolored leaves from artichokes.

Use a sharp knife for most cutting.

Substitute scissors or shears to clip leaf points.

Dip tops of sheared artichokes in lemon juice to prevent discoloration after cutting.

Watch cooking time, which can vary from 30 minutes to one hour.

French Artichokes

6 French artichokes
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup olive oil
6 lemon slices
2 bay leaves
1 garlic clove, quartered
1 teaspoon salt
pinch of black pepper

Cut off stems and trim a few bottom leaves so artichokes rest flat, slice 1 inch off tops and discard, snip pointed ends of remaining leaves and rinse in cold water. Soak artichokes in salted cold water about 25 minutes, drain upside down and immerse tops in lemon juice. Place artichokes right side up to fit snugly in large pot. In another pot, bring 3 quarts water combined with oil and rest of ingredients to boiling, pour over artichokes and simmer covered on medium low heat about 45 minutes. Carefully remove artichokes with wooden spoons, drain upside down and serve hot or refrigerate covered at least 4 hours for cold appetizer. Serve with melted butter, lemon butter, Hollandaise sauce or dip. Serves six.

Kids ought to love this vegetable—the proper way to eat artichokes is with your fingers.

It's the older set, however, that gravitates to French artichokes, which add a gourmet touch to any menu.

You can also stuff artichokes by removing some of the center leaves and spreading them open to fill with a seafood or meat mixture.

For example, one cup of cooked baby shrimp mixed with 1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1/4 cup finely chopped onion, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and a beaten egg stuffs four artichokes. But remember that since you're going to bake them in a preheated 350-degree oven until they're done—about 20 minutes—you'll want to cut down on the boiling time of artichokes to 20 or 30 minutes.

My wife likens the experience of plucking the petals one at a time, dipping the base of each leaf in melted butter, sauce or a dip, turning the meaty side down and drawing it between the teeth, scraping off the delectable combination, as "cleaning my teeth."

There is no perfect accompaniment for artichokes because they can be eaten hot or cold.

Melted butter is fine for hot artichokes. A simple lemon butter or Hollandaise sauce also is appropriate for artichokes pulled from boiling liquid.

Pilot Light GREG MELIKOV

A vinaigrette or creamy dip is nice for artichokes served cold.

When all the leaves are gone, you can eat the artichoke heart with a fork.

All in all, it's a tasty, finger lickin' good experience.

Lemon Butter Sauce

1/2 cup butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Melt butter and stir in lemon juice. Yields 1/2 cup. Enough sauce for three artichokes.

Creamy Artichoke Dip

1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup sour cream
1 hard-cooked egg, mashed
1/4 cup finely chopped stuffed green olives
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Whisk together mayonnaise and sour cream. Stir in rest of ingredients. Yields 1 1/2 cups. Enough dip for three artichokes.

To Hold Health Fair

Good Shepherd Hospital's Annual Health Fair, featuring several special tests, free health screenings and educational booths, will be held from 8 a.m. to noon, Friday, May 16, and from 8 to 11 a.m., Saturday, May 17.

Hospital personnel and volunteers will be available in Good Shepherd's ground floor lobby to administer tests and provide information on health-related topics during the fair.

Free oral cancer screenings will be provided along with tests for blood pressure, pulmonary function (to determine if lung capacity is normal based on a person's height, age and sex), oxygen saturation monitoring (a non-invasive method of determining the amount of oxygen in the blood), and height and weight.

A chemistry and coronary risk profile will be offered for $15 to screen for diabetes, kidney, liver and thyroid disease, gout, protein, coronary enzymes and cholesterol level.

Good Shepherd Hospital is located north of Barrington on Highway 22, two miles west of Rte. 59.

Pet Show Experience Is Good

by CHARLENE WHITNEY

Toby's Angels will sponsor an all-pet show for children ages three through thirteen years. Adults are asked give their children a hand if they require help. There is no narge and lots of fun ahead.

In the middle of the pet show, there will be a short performance by Sugar Babe of Toby's Angels. She has been a star on two tv specials in Chicago. Sugar is three years old and has learned many cute tricks.

The pet show will be at Wauconda Beach Park, located across from the village hall on Main St., on Saturday, May 17.

Sign-up time will be 8 to 9 a.m. No sign-ups will be accepted after 9 a.m. Many people usually come at the last minute. Please allow yourself plenty of time. Judging will begin at 9 a.m. Only those in the ring at that time will be judged.

All dogs and cats must be current on rabies shots. Keep the proof of these shots with you just in case you are asked to show it.

All phone numbers and addresses must be given at time of registration. Parents should fill out this form for their child. Should you need to be contacted, this makes things easier. One boy left his jacket and it was nearly a lost cause with the incorrect phone number he had given.

All cats must be caged. Enclosures may be decorated and you may have a good chance at winning the best-decorated cage trophy. Do not take the cat out of the cage. He can be seen just fine in the cage. During past shows, two cats got away because they were not caged. Because of this, all cats must be in some type of cage so the child doesn't lose his pet.

Every owner is expected to clean up after his pet. Let's keep our park clean. I will have a scooper and cleaning materials there. If you should need them, just ask one of the workers at the show.

Thirty-seven prizes will be awarded to the various pet groups—dogs, cats and all other types.

Cat awards will include: best decorated cat cages, Morris award; fluffy award; and best-groomed cat.

One of the dog-judging categories will be for best trick. This is optional. Please pick the one trick your dog performs best. Remember to bring treats and any equipment needed to perform the trick. Prizes will also be awarded in the following categories: Benji award; Toby award; Trixie award; and most obedient dog.

Pet-Wise

All dogs must be leashed or caged at all times. Your dog must be under control at all times. Do not allow him to sniff any other dog or any other animal. This should help prevent dog fights. Keep your dog next to you to avoid problems.

Other pets will be judged for most unusual, most colorful, and smallest.

Out of all first place winners, the "honored pet" will be chosen.

After the show there will be refreshments for all the children. Come and join in the fun.

Following are some ideas about what you will need or may want to bring: a leash; a cage or tank to confine your pet; proof of rabies shots for dogs and cats; tape if you have a decorated cage, in case some of the decoration falls off; a rug or blanket for your dog, or for your child to sit on; and a bag of ice is a good idea on a hot day in case your pet becomes overheated.

Most important, give yourself plenty of time to get to the show, allowing your pet to relieve himself before leaving home. See you soon!

Grayslake On A Roll; Improves Record To 5-3

by DANG O'SHEA

The Grayslake Rams will take on two tough Northwest Suburban Conference baseball opponents after winning three league contests last week, boosting their conference record to 5-3.

On Thursday, May 8, the Rams will face the Grant

Bulldogs. Next Grayslake will play Wauconda, which won the league title last year, Friday, May 9.

Grayslake was victorious in a 10-9 thriller over Johnsburg last week. Bill Sangbusch was the winning pitcher in relief of Tom Castino in a game highlighted by the Rams' four-run rally in the bottom of the seventh inning. According to Rams' Head Coach Jim Haas, Dan Kettwich led Grayslake with three hits and three runs batted in. Russ Hendricks had two hits and two RBI's, and Castino, Sangbusch and Greg Dunski each had hits.

The Rams followed the win with a 5-3 non-conference loss to Stevenson, which leads the North Suburban Conference. Mike Langer went the distance on the mound for Grayslake. It was a well-pitched game by Langer, according to Coach Haas. Hendricks was 3 for 3 at the plate and Kelly Bye had two hits.

Grayslake then beat Lake

Zurich 7-2. Jeff West had two hits and two RBI's. Castino stole two bases and Langer drove in two runs. Bye was the winning pitcher, going the distance.

The Rams ended the week with a 6-3 win at Round Lake. Grayslake got off to a good start with three runs in the first inning. Sangbusch was the winner again, pitching a complete game. He also led offensively with two hits and three RBI's. Langer was 2-3 with one RBI.

Coach Haas commented that the Rams' pitching has come around quite a bit since the beginning of the year. He also describes the Rams' hitting as much better than average.

Panthers Sweep Grant, Face Lake Zurich Next

What Thursday can give, Friday can take away.

That was the situation confronting the Round Lake baseball team last week.

After sweeping a key doubleheader from Grant, a 9-8 win in the finish of a suspended game and an 11-2 drubbing in game two May 1, the Panthers fell to Grayslake 6-3 May 3.

The Panthers thus head into this week's action with a 7-1 record in the Northwest Suburban Conference, 11-6 overall.

Round Lake faces another tough test when it faces Lake Zurich May 9 at home. The winner could go on and capture the NWSC crown.

"There's still a long way to go, but that's seven (wins) they can't take away from us," Round Lake coach Howard Schroeder said after the wins over Grant.

The Panthers and Bulldogs began last week tied for the top spot in NWSC play, and Round Lake ended the day with a game lead.

In the second game, Damen Horn and Chuck Banker each socked home runs in the first inning as Round Lake grabbed a 3-2 lead.

Grant had scored its two runs, its only pair of the game, on a home run by Mike Kazlousky, a single by Jim Theobald and a double by Joe Vacke.

Round Lake starter Doug Sparks then settled down, giving up just two more hits before leaving with a blister problem in the fifth. Reliever Keith Schmidt came on and shut the door, as the game ended in a double play.

"That's got to be a confidence booster for him," Schroeder said of Schmidt. "He had a three-run lead in the first game but could not hold it," Schroeder said.

Round Lake scored once in the third, twice in the fifth and sixth and once in the seventh.

Grayslake jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first.

The Rams led 6-2 when Round Lake tried to rally in the late innings but came up short.

Bob Langer provided two hits for the winners with a single and double. Bill Snagbusch was the winning pitcher.

"We really haven't played bad baseball for the last two weeks, with the exception of the second game against Palatine," Grayslake coach Jim Hess said.

Washington All-American

College of Lake County athlete, Greg Washington, of Waukegan, was named to the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) All-American Basketball Third Team.

He is the College of Lake County's first All-American, according to Associate Dean of Health, Physical Education, Intramurals, Recreation & Athletics Division, Larry Whittier.

Teammate Mike Kloberdanz was ranked 7th in rebounding by the NJCAA.

Bats Will Keep Grant In Race

The Grant Bulldogs' baseball team took a tough double loss to Round Lake's soaring Panthers on April 30. The Panthers' loss to Grayslake on May 2 keeps the Bulldogs in the thick of the race for conference champion, though.

Only a half a game separates the Bulldogs (7-2) and the Panthers (7-1) in conference play.

Grant varsity baseball coach, Fritz Kazlauskis, said that he thinks the Bulldogs are in good position to battle it out right to the end. "We had a few problems defensively with the left side of our infield early on, but we made some changes in our game Friday (May 2) with Marengo. We had the best defensive game we have had all year so I think the changes will work well for the rest of the season," Kazlauskis said.

Grant beat Marengo 8-0. Pitcher Joe Vocke led the team with a complete game shutout.

The powerful bats of the Grant Bulldogs have been the difference in most of their games so far. Joe Vocke has hit five home runs and is batting .370. Other standouts include Mike Kazlauskis, .410; Garry Glauser, .360; Kerry Bennett, .360; and Jim Theobald, .320.

The pitching of Mike McDonald is a key factor in Grant's early success, also. Before the twin loss to Round Lake, McDonald was 4-0. Rick Sutcliffe should be so lucky to have the sort of run production behind him that the Bulldogs have gotten so far this season.

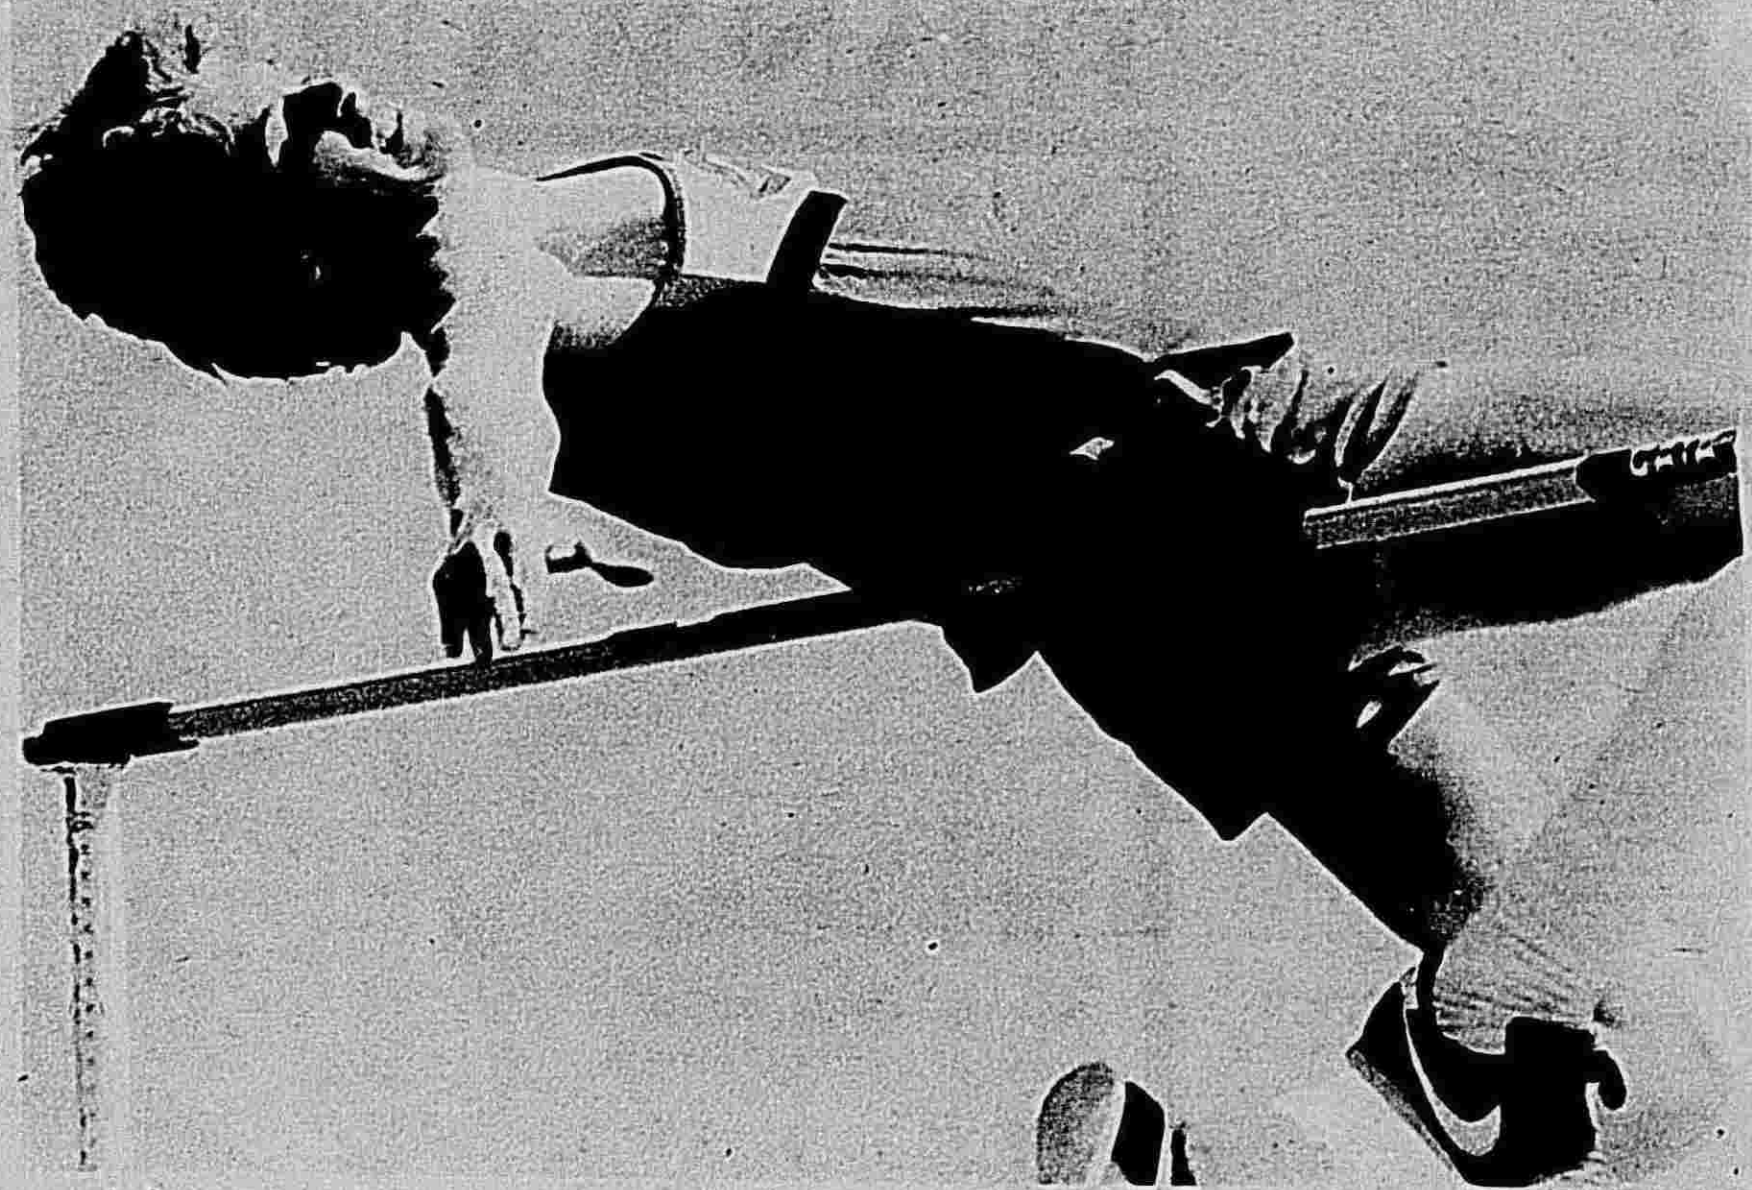

Looking ahead, the Bulldogs face the up and coming Grayslake Rams on Thursday, May 8, and Marian Central on Friday, May 9. The Grayslake Rams, after a slow start, appear to have gotten it together. The Rams are third in the conference, just two games off the pace of the Bulldogs.

CLC Awards Lancer Hoopster

Mike Kloberdanz has received the College of Lake County's 1985-86 Scholar-Athlete of the Year award for men. Kloberdanz, a standout at center for the Lancer basketball team the past two seasons, maintains an academic average of 3.51 in communications.

He is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, the junior college national honor fraternity.

Kloberdanz is a 1980 graduate of St. Gilbert School, Grayslake, and of Carmel High School in 1984.

Mustangs Aim To Challenge Wildcats

Mundelein's varsity baseball team will have the opportunity to recoup the loss they had against Libertyville earlier in the season when they face the Wildcats at home on Thursday, May 8.

Currently in second place in the North Suburban Conference, the Wildcat's hitting strength is the challenge the Mustangs will have to overcome for a victory. Mundelein will play a doubleheader against Zion-Benton on Saturday, May 10.

The Mustangs' conference record remained 5-6 after they swept North Chicago in a doubleheader on May 3. Following that, they played two at home games against Antioch and a non-conference game against McHenry.

During their first game against North Chicago, Mundelein's John Kazenas was seven for nine at the plate, driving in seven runs with three doubles.

Winning pitcher was senior right-hander Dan Word.

During the second game, winning pitcher was junior left-hander John McNulty. Jay Retzinger came in to relieve McNulty and picked up the save.

Warren Finds .500 Mark

Warren Twp. High School's baseball team will find out what life is like when you are above .500 in the North Suburban Conference this week.

The Blue Devils, 6-6 after 12 NSC games, travel to Antioch May 8 and Libertyville May 10 to face two of the tougher teams in the league.

"We felt we could at least be that but be still have a lot of tough games to go," coach Ron Shelton said of his team, which is 6-9 overall.

Last week, Warren topped Fenton 3-2 in game two of a doubleheader by scoring all three runs in the ninth inning.

The Blue Devils split two games against Zion-Benton, winning 3-2 before losing 4-1. Warren lost to Lake Forest 6-1.

The Devil may have found a No. 2 and No. 3 starter to go along with top pitcher Russ Nolan.

Junior Brad Beitzel and Tom Thompson both won games of late, adding depth to the WTHS staff.

Nolan is 5-2 on the year. Warren has been assigned to the Grayslake regional, which opens May 20.

Teams Gain Experience In Lake County Track Meet

Lakeland area track teams may have gained some important experience against top-notch competition in the Lake County track meet at Grant May 2.

Libertyville coasted to a team victory in the boys' meet with 118 points to make the issue a battle for second. That was not decided, as Zion-Benton and North Chicago both ended with 57 points.

The best a Lakeland team could do was Carmel's seventh-place showing with 30 points. Mundelein was in 11th place with 22 points, Grayslake 13th with 14 points; Antioch 14th with eight points, edging Warren's seven. Host Grant was held to three points, while Round Lake garnered just one point and Wauconda was shut out.

Carmel earned a fifth-place with a 44.9 run in the 3,200 meter relay.

Grayslake's Carl Wismer was fourth in the 3,200 meter run with a time of 9:59.5, breaking the 10-minute mark.

Mundelein also earned points in the 3,200 meter run.

In the 800 meter run, Grayslake, Warren and Antioch earned points.

John Lui of Grayslake finished fourth in the 300-meter low hurdles.

Carmel finished fifth in the 1,600 meter relay.

In field events, Carmel and Antioch scored points in the long jump and Warren tallied points in the shot put.

Antioch scored a fifth place in the pole vault.

Miller Enters All 3 Events

John R. Miller, of Dan Miller Leasing, Gurnee, is one of nine competitors who have entered all three of the 1 Lap of American Events.

Miller's 1984 entrant was an 84 Ford El50 Road King Van Conversion and finished 14th.

For last year's event they flew to Las Vegas, Nev. to buy from Tom Coward Lincoln-Mercury the all-new 1985 1/2 Merkur XR4Ti in time for the second event. The result was a dandy sixth place finish.

When 1986 1 Lap entries were announced they decided to go for it again with the Merkur with joint sponsorship by Dan Miller Leasing and Highland Park Lincoln Mercury.

Going for his third 1 Lap is Roger Cox, of Wildwood. Copiloting with him again this year will be his son, Tim Cox, who is going on his second 1 Lap. John R. Miller will be the navigator on the team.

Roger Cox has had a lifelong involvement with motorsports. He was a starter and flagman, and worked at Waukegan, Kenosha County and Lake Geneva Speedways for 12 years. He has also served as assistant starter and flagman for USAC in the Sprint and Midget Divisions. Currently he is involved with his sons, Tim and Roger. He has had experience in driving semis across the country for Waukegan Tire and Supply, and gets "charged up" about doing the 1 Lap again this year with his son, Tim.

Tim Cox is a stock car fabricator and builder, and attended Gateway Tech in Kenosha. He is a graduate technician and welding specialist, and loves motorsports. He was married last summer to Cheryl Babcock. Tim ran snowmobiles competitively for three years. Last year Tim competed successfully in ice racing a fourwheeler in the Southern Wisconsin-Northern Illinois AMA Championship and won. This season he has a ride in a modified sprint car.

Miller grew up in the automobile business and has been in it for over 30 years.

'Pyramid Power'

In the background, is the world's largest solar home called "The Pyramid," located in Wadsworth. The layout features a 22-ton Egyptian king statue in the foreground. The Miller entry from Gurnee is looking for a super finish with the new-found "pyramid power." Q: Would you explain what changes I need to make in my stance when the ball is above my feet on a hillside lie?

A: When the ball lies above or higher than your feet you do have to make some adjustments. Let's list them as steps to remember and practice. 1) Stand somewhat upright as your normal stance will produce a swing that is too flat. 2) Set up slightly to the right with an open club face because this type of lie always causes a pulled or pulled hook shot. 3) Lower your hands a bit so that the sole of the club will conform to the side of the hill. 4) Choke down an inch or two on the club. 5) Adjust your weight more onto the toes to insure that you don't pull back off the ball as you swing. 6) Keep your head still and maintain a good balance throughout the swing. Finally, try using one club more than you would normally choose. This will prevent that forced or "too hard" swing which automatically throws you off balance. This may sound complicated but the adjustments are minor and they are necessary to execute this shot correctly.

Renters! Here's List Of Your Lease Rights

Apartment renters may feel that building owners always have the upper hand, but the law provides a balance of rights and obligations between tenants and landlords.

For example, the California Supreme Court recently made life tougher for landlords. It ruled a building owner can be held responsible for a dangerous condition causing a tenant injury, even if the injuries resulted from a latent defect not readily apparent by reasonable inspection.

"California is the first state to apply 'product theories' to real estate law, subjecting landlords to strict liability for injuries caused by hidden defects in apartments," said Timothy S. Robinson of the National Law Journal.

The ruling came in a suit by George Becker of Contra Costa County, who was badly cut when he slipped and fell against an untempered glass shower door. Becker's suit alleged the landlord was negligent and should be held liable for having a defective product in the apartment, instead of the tempered glass required by law.

Surprisingly, the court ruled in favor of the tenant even though the landlord said he bought the building without knowing about the untempered glass in the shower.

Knowing where the law stands concerning landlord-tenant rights is important for both the building owner and the renter, experts told The Meyers Report.

Although laws differ from region to region, here are some general rules from the American Bar Association governing the landlord-tenant relationship:

—THE LEASE. Thousands of trusting renters sign a so-called "standard" lease every year without reading the fine print. The landlord's lease defines the rules of the premises and makes it easier to resolve any disputes that arise.

However, some lease forms give landlords more power than others. Tenants should review their lease with a lawyer to understand obligations involved in the document. Renters should have a say-so in making up the rules before they sign the lease.

The Meyers Report

Economic forecaster Gary S. Meyers has been a lecturer and consultant to major financial institutions, government analysts, real estate developers and daily newspapers throughout the nation for the past 16 years. Readers are invited to submit comments and questions for possible use as subjects for future columns. Write Gary S. Meyers & Associates, Ltd., 20 W. Hubbard, Chicago, IL 60610.

—WARRANTY OF HABITABILITY. This means that the landlord is required to turn over a liveable, habitable housing unit to the tenant. This includes such essentials as heat, light, ventilation, plumbing, doors that lock, sanitation and maintenance.

—MAINTENANCE. Landlords have a right to expect that the premises they lease to renters will be returned to them in the same condition as when they were rented except for "ordinary wear and tear."

—REPAIRS. Fix-it duties lie with the landlord, provided the tenant notifies the building owner or manager that something is wrong and gives him or her the opportunity to repair it. If the landlord refuses to fix defects, about half the states give tenants permission to make repairs and charge the landlord by deducting costs of repairs.

—RENT WITHHOLDING. If the tenant withholds rent, he or she must be prepared to defend the amount withheld in court if the landlord sues the tenant for eviction. The tenant also must prove that the defect in question was a serious one, affecting health and safety or something else crucial to habitability.

In addition, the tenant must verify that the landlord was given notice that something was wrong and had the opportunity to fix it. Failure to pay the rent without a legitimate reason is the quickest way to be evicted.

—EVICTION PROCEDURE. In most states there are five steps in the eviction process: 1) The landlord gives tenant notice that he or she intends to sue for eviction and why; 2) there is service of summons ordering tenant to appear in court or else lose automatically; 3) a trial date is set; 4) a trial takes place; 5) a judgment or decision is made either for tenant or landlord.

If the landlord wins a judgment, law enforcement officers will carry out the eviction, usually within two or three days. The legal action takes place either in a special landlord-tenant court, a small claims court, or a regular court. The entire process usually takes two or three weeks, unless the judge grants an extension for reasons of tenant hardship.

Springdale Features Luxury Homes

One-acre homesites are now available in the final development phase of the Springdale Trails luxury homes community in north suburban Spring Grove. Cambridge Homes, Inc. is offering the remaining 26 homesites for prices ranging from $15,990 to $19,990.

Of the original 100 one-acre lots at Springdale Trails, 74 have been sold and homes already occupy half of these in an established family environment.

Scott Brown, sales manager of single family Cambridge Homes in Lake and McHenry counties, said that homes in Springdale Trails, including sites, start at about $95,000 and range upward to $130,000 or higher. "People can build a home of their own private architectural design, but they must confirm to guidelines established by an architectural control board that assures acceptable design standards," Brown declared.

Cambridge offers six models which can be built on the lots. Prices range from $94,990 to $130,990 and include the one-acre lot. Styles include two-stories, a split-level and one which features a cathedral ceiling.

Brown noted that Springdale Trails is in an ideal location for homebuyers who prefer close proximity to outdoor recreation facilities and a countryside environment. It is close to the Chain O'Lakes State Park and only four miles from the Wilmet ski slopes. Fox Lake and Hunter Country Clubs are also nearby.

Springdale Trails is marked by scenic winding roads and each homesite is bordered by an equestrian trail.

The community is located in the Richmond School Dist. All models which can be built in Springdale Trails may be viewed at the Cambridge West development on Butterfield Rd., two miles north of Rte. 60, in Mundelein.

The Cambridge West models include in the base price the following features: full carpeting, tv antenna, phone prewiring, vinyl asbestos no-wax tile in foyer, wood railings, door bell and chime, gas range with continuous clean oven, double-bowl stainless steel sink with single-handle faucet, six-cycle dishwasher, vented range hood, wood cabinetry, kitchen pantries, gas forced-air heating system and 50-gallon hot water units.

Other features include: circuit breakers, electrical ground fault breakers, copper wiring, 100 and 200-amp electrical service, copper water pipes, individual shutoff valves at sinks, lavatories and water closets; drain tile and automatic sump pump in basements, R-13 wall and R-

30 ceiling insulation, insulated exterior doors, air infiltration barrier and thermal barrier patio doors and windows, water-saver shower heads and toilets, attic roof ventilation, insulated water heater and thermal barrier insulation in floor slabs.

Spring Grove is east of Richmond and west of Antioch. For information on Springdale Trails, call or visit Cambridge West model homes in Mundelein. Phone (312) 362-9100.

The Hampton of Springdale Trails

The Hampton, a two-story home with three bedrooms, one and one-half baths, a large eat-in kitchen, vaulted ceilings and two-car garage, totals 1,551 square feet and is priced from $99,990. The one-acre lot is included in the price. It is one of six models offered by Cambridge Homes, Inc., available for building on Spring Dale Trails, located in northwest suburban Spring Grove.

Lake Geneva May Be Best Way To Launch Travel Season

Mother's Day, Sunday, May 11, is a time for recognition of that great lady who accepted all the responsibilities of being there and needed.

She encouraged us when things seemed to go wrong. She bore, nursed, washed, raised and consoled her children with little self-concern for her 24-hour responsibility. Sunday, it's our turn to say "Thanks, Mom."

Maybe a short trip, a visit with friends, perhaps a fancy or family dinner somewhere? Yes, it's our turn.

A nice way to launch into the outdoor travel season might be a cruise on Lake Geneva in Walworth County, Ws. Five excursion craft of the Gage Marine fleet include a twin stacked, riverboat stern wheeler and refurbished or reproduced steam yachts and lake boats. Ships leave the Riviera Docks on one and two and a quarter hour cruises.

Some are set up for brunch, luncheon or dinner cruises with bar and buffet, or sit down service available. For details, call Gage Marine toll free at 1-800-558-5911. Reservations are required.

Jackson, Miss. will host its third international ballet competition this year between June 14 and 28. Officially part of the international ballet cycle, including Moscow, Heisinki and Varna, Bulgaria, the U.S. competition is the completion of a four-year cycle. Selected as the U.S. site, some 8 competitors from the world over, will vie for the gold, silver and bronze awards.

Jackson, which participated in this competition since 1979, will become a one-of-a-kind international host city during those two weeks, as the center of world wide interest in the excellence of ballet.

Why Jackson for international ballet? Well, it's the capitol of Mississippi and has proven itself supportive in most forms of the arts. Some say Jackson's famed southern hospitality adds international charisma. But, whatever it is, this "quality of life" city offers many other points of interest. Jackson and its visitor bureau will furnish any desired information by a call to 601-960-1891, or a note to Box 1450, Jackson, Ms., 39025. Once arrived, they say, we'll add hundreds of other things to do as well.

Ex-resident Iowans and folks with Iowa families and friends are invited by Governor Branstad to make 1986 their homecoming year. A massive effort is underway throughout the state to coordinate this homecoming program. May is titled "Senior Citizen Month." Travelers spent $1.7 billion in Iowa during 1984 and figures are not yet available for '85, but expect to increase by 11 percent.

The five top visitor interest spots are Amana Colonies; Des Moines, capitol city; President Hoover's home at West Branch; Living History Farms; and Adventureland near Des Moines. History, general sight-seeing and family visits dominate tourist interest. Questioned at rest stop tourist information centers, Illinoisans ranked first among out of state visitors.

Old West Gunfighters Highlight Day In Union

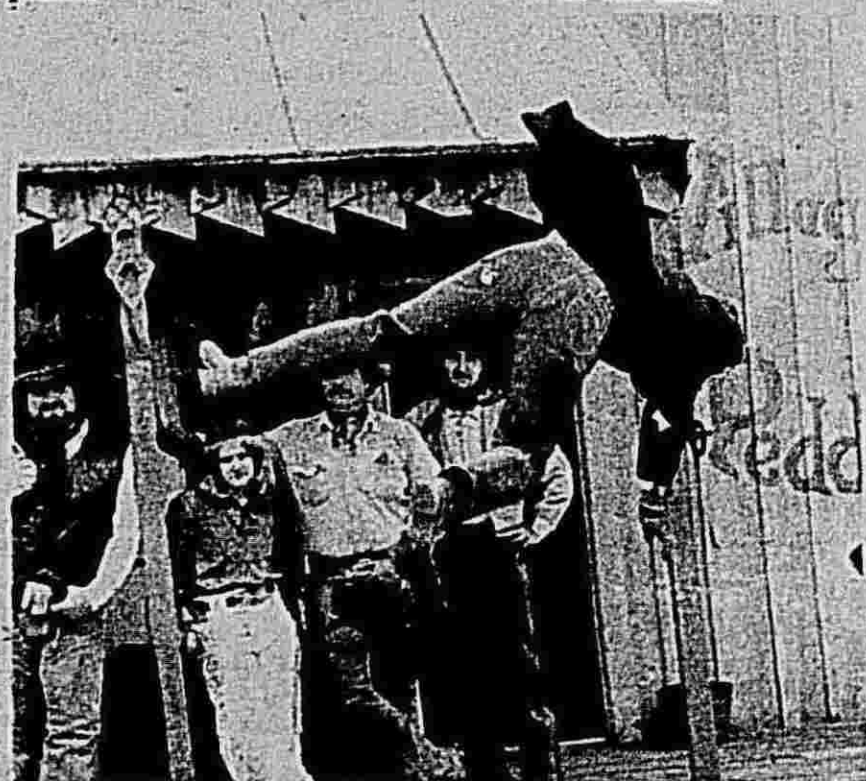

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Seven Acres Antique Village and Museum located at 8512 S. Union Rd. in Union, Ill. is a marvelous place to take the kids for adventure and a look at America's colorful past.

Kids and parents alike are sure to be thrilled as the gunfighters of the old west come alive in the authentically decorated wild west town just back of the museum. The shows are presented three times per day on weekends though the museum is open seven days a week from May 1 through October.

In between shows, such characters as "Wild Bill" and "Boss Briggs" will teach the kids how to throw a tomahawk and lasso a pole. Pony rides and antique arcade games round out the entertainment for the little ones.

Perhaps equally entertaining for parents is the museum, which features exhibits ranging from the nation's largest antique phonograph exhibit to an 1890's street lined with old-time shops and an ice cream parlor. The whole family can enjoy sitting and playing the pump-operated player piano. For further information, call (815)-923-2214.

Apple Blossom Time Crucial For Orchards

by JAMES N. MANTZOROS

There are 22 orchards in northeastern Illinois and southeastern Wisconsin, and the next two weeks are very crucial to these orchards with apple blossom season at its peak.

All of these orchards belong to the Lakeland Fruit Growers Assn., according to Rick Breeden, president of the association.

The purpose of the association is to help local growers with production and marketing, and to make quality produce available to area residents and visitors, directly from the growers.

Marge and Dick Breeden, owners of Wauconda Orchards, explained the yearly production cycle of apple trees. According to the Breedens, the cycle starts with the transfer of pollen by bees. Wauconda Orchard has sixty hives on each end of the orchard, with 3.5 million bees. When the temperature rises to 75 degrees or more, the bees become active. The bees enter the blossoms to extract the nectar, and become covered with pollen, which they then transfer to other blossoms as they feed. Without the bees, pollination would not occur.

Apple blossoms, which develop in clusters of five, can be badly damaged by early frosts. Breeden will know by June 10 how much of this year's crop was damaged. By then apples that survived will have grown to the size of a fingertip. Growers are happy to get one apple from each cluster of blossoms.

Wauconda Orchards was founded 35 years ago, and has 250 acres of mostly dwarf apple trees. Nine different varieties are available, including the Macintosh, the first of the fall apples, and the Empire, which keeps well into the spring.

Orchards in the Lakeland Fruit Growers Assn. are found as far east as Mundelein, as far west as Cherry Valley, Ill.; and north to Whitewater, Wis. Other orchards include:

Quig's Orchard on Rte. 60, north of Midlothian Rd. in Mundelein. In addition to apples, apple cider, donuts, jams, homebaked items and pure honey are available.

Heatley's Orchard, Round Lake. Heatley's is located on Cedar Lake Rd. off Hwy. 120. Apples, honey, grapes and pears are available.

In the Marengo area, there are two orchards and one ranch:

Thundergrove Orchard carries over 25 varieties of apples, cider, prunes, plums, red currants and grapes. The orchard is located on Hwy. 176, one mile east of Marengo on Deer Pass Rd.

The Raspberry Ranch on Hwy. 20 west of Marengo raises raspberries, grapes, and vegetables.

Walnut Hill Orchard has six varieties of apples, pumpkins, cider, doughnuts, jams and jellies. It is located on Oleson Rd. four miles north of Marengo.

Local Merchants Able To 'Learn And Earn'

Local boys and girls have an excellent opportunity to learn the workings of business, salesmanship and self assurance by becoming subscription representatives for their local Lakeland Newspaper.

Publisher William H. Schroeder boys and girls are interested in "going into business for themselves" are invited to inquire about earning opportunities and earning extra money.

"You can think of no better way for a young person to get a taste of business and broaden their experience that by becoming a subscription representative for their hometown newspaper," the publisher stated.

Youths selected will be provided with sales samples, market information and the basics of selling on a personal basis.

Boys and girls working as subscription representatives will work under the guidance of circulation staff members of the newspaper group. Their parents are informed fully of the sales process.

The "junior merchants" are identified by a press card and a letter of introduction. They work at their own pace, "usually after school or Saturdays," Schroeder stated.

Interested youths should contact the Lakeland Newspaper reception desk at (312) 223-8161 to arrange for an interview. Schroeder said boys and girls can be "in business" and earning extra money in several days. Generous commissions are paid.

Quality Roses Should Be A Most Primary Concern

A rose plant is a long-term investment. Although the rose blossom has a delicate, fragile look, the plant itself is hardy and strong. It lives and blooms for years. So don't try to save a few dollars on your initial outlay for roses—quality should be your primary concern.

Not a bargain

"Bargain plants" seldom thrive; yet they require even more care than healthy, durable, high-quality plants. Here are tips from Ortho's newly revised book, "All About Roses," which will help you and the healthy plants you need.

Tip number one is to shop at your local professional garden center or nursery, or order from a reputable plant mail-order house. Ortho's book includes a list of mail-order retailers.

Ask questions

When you shop at your favorite garden center or nursery, don't be shy about consulting members of the sales staff.

These men and women are often experts on roses and will give you sound answers to your questions on selecting plants and caring for them.

Tip number two is to remember that in buying rose bushes, like any other product, price does bear some relationship to quality.

Bushes may be priced from $1.99 to $12 and the very cheapest are not good buys. Remember, you'll be investing about an hour of care a week in tending this plant, so don't skimp.

Tip number three is to do a little homework before you buy your rose plants. Roses have been around for centuries, and there is a wealth of information about each type, growing habits, physical characteristics and types of blossoms.

So eliminate the guesswork. Consult a good reference book such as "All About Roses" and decide what varieties you want in your new rose garden, and then take your shopping list to your nursery or garden center.

Rose plants are available either "barefoot," which means they are wrapped loose or in a plantable box, or growing in containers. Both are graded on a three-point scale—1, 1½ or 2—depending on size and number of stems.

A No. 1 is the highest grade and has at least three or four heavy canes or stems and is a minimum of ¼ inch in diameter.

Hybrid tea plants should be at least 18 inches to be rated No. 1. Grades 1½ and 2 have fewer canes and are smaller in diameter.

"Savvy" shoppers take note

Now, the last tip for the "savvy" shopper is to look for the following things in a rose plant:

- Healthy, dark green leaves;
- No insects;
- Moist, smooth wood on the canes;
- A well-shaped plant free of swellings, deformations or discolorations on stems and roots;

New Book Helps Solve Problems Easier Than Ever

From this day forward home garden problems will be easier than ever to diagnose and solve. A new horticultural reference book, THE ORTHO PROBLEM SOLVER, is now available as a consumer information service at garden centers across the country with information for home garden enthusiasts that cannot be found in any other publication currently on the market.

This massive new Ortho publication is a 1,024-page book which describes, analyzes and provides solutions to almost 2,000 common garden dilemmas. It is currently on display at local home centers, hardware stores, lawn and garden supply outlets, discount and chain stores, supermarkets and other retail outlets that carry Ortho garden products.

Consumer information center

Each of the stores in your area that utilizes THE PROBLEM SOLVER has been instantly transformed into a home garden consumer information center.

Its availability is like having a nationally renowned garden expert at your disposal at no cost whenever your plants and vegetables are attacked by disease or insects.

Valuable reference

"This book should be of immense value to retail garden centers and nurseries," echoes Everitt L. Miller, director of Philadelphia's Longwood Gardens, one of the most prestigious botanical gardens in the United States.

"The avid amateur gardener now has a reference book with easy-to-find items to help him make his garden disease- and pest-free. The information contained in THE ORTHO PROBLEM SOLVER is accurate, complete and to-the-point."

The new book is illustrated with more than 2,000 color photographs and contains the largest collection of disease and insect shots under one cover. It is the result of three years of continuous writing, research and collaboration by Ortho and more than a hundred university horticulturists and county agricultural agents.

THE PROBLEM SOLVER clearly identifies a garden problem, displaying the symptom with a color photograph and recommending a solution.

Efficiently organized

It is divided into 13 color-coded sections, delineating problems and solutions for everything from houseplants to ground covers and methods for eliminating household pests and plant diseases.

Color-coded maps are also available to designate which problems are most common in your region.

In addition, information regarding the appropriate Ortho products for treatment of home garden maladies is also available.

"The 208-page index and color-coded sections make it easy for users of THE PROBLEM SOLVER to find out what's ailing their plants and what treatment is best," Miller says.

Informative index

"The appendix is also a key part of the book. It contains a wealth of information about different groups of plants and how they will react under certain conditions.

Among the other sections in THE PROBLEM SOLVER are those concerning lawns; trees, shrubs and vines; annuals; perennials and bulbs; fruit and nut trees; vegetables; berries and grapes; weeds; insects; animal pests; and soil, cultural and climate problems.

Extensive coverage

The most extensive section of the book deals with home trees, shrubs and vines. Whether your plants are suffering from discoloration of their leaves or attacks from pests such as aphids or whiteflies, THE PROBLEM SOLVER offers practical solutions which will eliminate the affliction

Correct Pruning Can Help Rejuvenate Old Plants

Good looks should not be the sole incentive for keeping your fruit trees fit and trim.

Correct pruning can not only help control new growth, repair damage, help control insects and diseases, but can also rejuvenate an old plant and increase the size and quality of fruit produced by the trees.

Many trees will live, grow and bear fruit without ever being pruned, but it is beneficial to both their overall condition and performance if you understand what this process can do.

Here are some secrets to successful pruning from Ortho's new book called "All About Growing Fruits and Berries." Start with a good pair of shears. If you plan to make cuts larger than your shears can handle, you should be aware of such things as a narrow curved pruning saw or a wood rasp or pruning knife which smooth the edges of the trunk or branch.

Pricewise, don't be afraid to spend some extra cash for a good pair of shears. It is an investment which will make your job easier and give you a valuable gardening tool you will be able to use for many years.

Whenever you cut any plant, you are leaving it susceptible to pests and diseases. Try to make your wounds as small as possible. If they are more than a half-inch in diameter, you can protect them with pruning paint or pruning sealer.

Always cut as close to the node as possible because this is the only part where branches grow. If there's too long a stub that piece will rot and die. Also, be sure to cut at an angle to discourage disease.

Before you make the first cut, be sure you know the difference between pruning techniques for different species of fruit trees. Since your main objective is to produce more fruit and maintain a healthy tree, you should know that there's a difference between pruning apple and peach trees.

During the first three years of growth, most fruit trees can be pruned the same way. However, as soon as they begin to bear, each species is treated differently.

Most pruning involves one of the following three techniques: vase pruning, which is the most popular; modified central-leader pruning; and delayed open-center pruning, which combines both techniques.

Vase pruning means shaping the tree to a very short trunk of about three feet with about three or four main limbs. This shape allows light to reach through to the center. This method is always used with apricots, plums and peaches and often with pears and apples.

In the modified central-leader technique, the tree is shaped into one tall trunk extending upward and emerging through the top. This process makes for a very strong tree but with less fruit because the center is shaded. The small dwarf apples are pruned in this way with the branches acting almost like small bushes.

The third technique, combining both the strong trunk and open center of the vase shaped tree, is called delayed open-center pruning. In this method, a single trunk is allowed to grow vertically until it reaches between six and ten feet tall. It is then cut just above a branch. Main scaffold branches are then selected and subsequent pruning is done with the vase method.

Remember that the right method of pruning should be established almost as soon as a tree is planted.

Helping to circumvent potential diseases, control insects and assist new growth is crucial to the production of plentiful and healthy fruit.

Man Can Create Variety Of Roses

Birds do it, bees do it, even roses can do it—that is, reproduce new members of their species.

Rose plants have an advantage over birds and bees, however, because they are bisexual. Man can help pollination along and, in the process, create new varieties of roses by hybridizing them.

Hybridization is really artificial breeding. Professional Ortho's book, "All About Roses."

- Carefully remove the flower petals of two "parents" hybridizers cross-pollinate or fertilize thousands of roses a year in hope of finding the "perfect" one. Any patient and lucky gardener gets a crack at it though.

The basic steps for producing new varieties of roses are summed up and illustrated in to expose a rose. Tucked away are both the female and male reproductive organs—pistils (f) surrounded by pollen-bearing stamens (m).

- With a knife or tweezers, carefully remove the sac-like tops of the stamens before they have a chance to ripen and release pollen.

- Store the tops inside a labeled container and let dry.

- In about a day, the pistils will secrete a sticky substance. At about the same time, the stored anthers release their powdery pollen.

- With a small brush, paint the pollen on the sticky female part of the flower.

- Label the newly pollinated bud and cover with a plastic bag for protection against dust and unwanted pollen.

If the pollination is successful, the hip or fruit of the rose will swell and ripen in about 2½ months. The hip contains the seeds of new rose plants.

Don't despair if the hips or fruits don't ripen. The percentage of fertilization is low.

If you think you've come up with the perfect rose, or a good one, Ortho suggests sending it to a respected commercial rose grader.

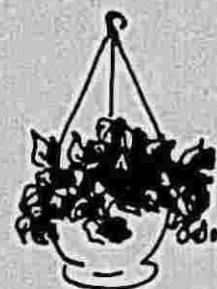

Don't despair if he politely turns down your request. The odds are 10,000 to one against producing an outstanding and original rose. At least you have made your own seeds!

DUI Court Due For Summer Debut

A new look in the continuing campaign against driving under the influence will be unveiled "sometime in July or August."

That's the word from Chief Circuit Court Judge William B. Block who has directed that a centralized DUI Court be established in Waukegan.

Judge Block said that the specific court will provide for more efficient use of judges and greater consistency in dealing with drunken driving cases.

The chief judge told Lakeland Newspapers that centralizing DUI Court in Lake County is in line with a mandate of the Illinois General Assembly to stiffen action against drunk driving at all levels of law enforcement, prosecution and the judicial process.

At present, preliminary hearings and non-jury DUI cases are heard in the various Branch Circuit Courts throughout the county. After institution of the central court this summer, any judicial procedure dealing with DUI will be conducted in the Waukegan courthouse.

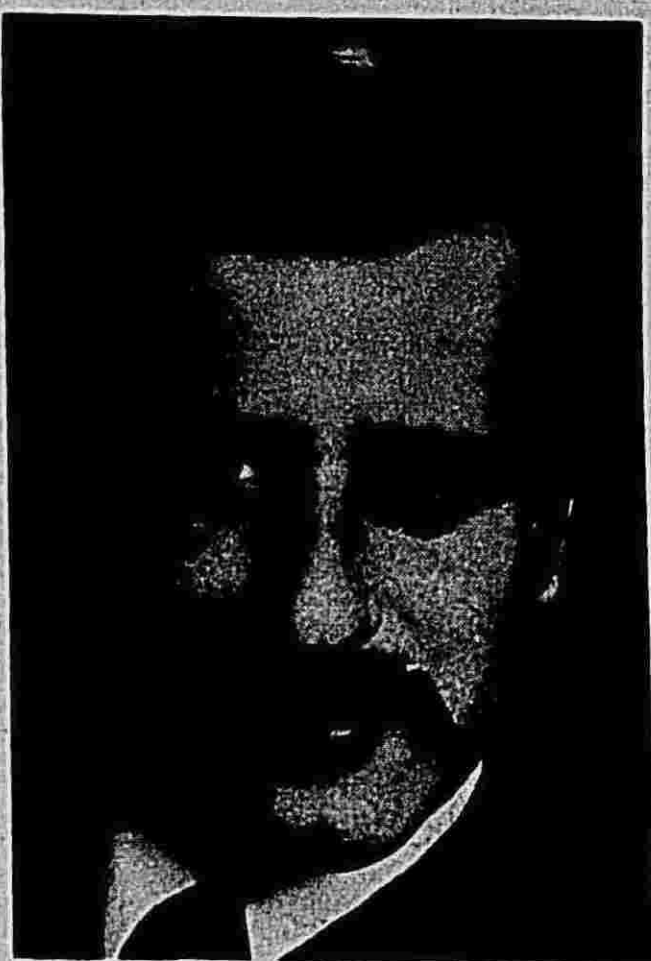

Judge Block announced his decision to establish DUI Court at a meeting of chiefs of police.

A committee of the Lake County Bar Assn. studying drunk driving cases returned a unanimous recommendation in support of a central court.

Block said he was aware of misgivings on the part of some chiefs about coming to Waukegan in the future for DUI cases (see related article elsewhere).

"You never make everyone happy," the judge noted in recognizing that some chiefs are finding fault with the centralized court plan, basically because of travel time and extra time involved for officers testifying.

Chief Judge William Block

Show Displeasure Toward 'New' DUI Court

At least six western Lake County police chiefs, if not more, are against Chief Circuit Court Judge William Block's centralized DUI court proposal.

The proposal, which will take effect "sometime in July or August," will be located in Waukegan and will provide for a more efficient use of judges and greater consistency in dealing with drunken driving cases, according to Block.

Round Lake Beach Police Chief Ed Noe said the centralized DUI court will cause nothing but hardship for Lake County police departments.

"It's going to cost us a lot of money in overtime, it's a longer trip into Waukegan, and we may lose some of our witnesses because they don't feel like driving into Waukegan to fight the traffic," Noe said.

Noe added that he is not the only police chief that feels this way. He said Police Chiefs Ed Wunderle (Grayslake), Chuck Miller (Antioch), John Debevic (Lake Villa), Gary Kupsak (Lindenhurst) and Joe Semasko (Fox Lake) all met with Lake County State's At-pressed 100 percent negative feelings toward the proposal.

Most of the criticism against the centralized DUI court is based around the chiefs' ill feelings toward the "hassle" of driving all the way into Waukegan to process the DUI offender instead of going to a branch office like they do now (Round Lake Beach currently processes its DUI offenders at the Fox Lake Police Dept.).

He pointed out, though, that there are a considerable number of DUI cases handled now in Waukegan, including all DUI jury cases.

Administratively, centralization will eliminate delays and snags such as transfer of documents from the Circuit Court to the branches.

Tavern Owners Could Be Held Responsible

Wisconsin tavern owners would be liable for accidents their intoxicated customers cause on Illinois highways, under legislation co-sponsored by Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-McHenry County) and endorsed by a State Senate committee.

The measure (SB 2165) is designed to discourage taverns and private citizens in neighboring states from serving liquor to intoxicated persons who will be a menace on Illinois roads as a result. It would also make Illinois drinking establishments responsible for accidents their customers cause in neighboring states.

Schaffer said the aim of the legislation is to halt Wisconsin taverns' brisk business of serving liquor to Illinois residents, particularly those not old enough to meet the age 21 drinking requirement in Illinois. The bill would prohibit advertisement in Illinois of a different legal drinking age in another state.

"We've tried everything else we could think of to discourage Wisconsin drinking trips by Illinois people," Schaffer said. "We have appealed to tavern owners there without success, so I think we have to reach them through their wallets by making them liable for accidents their customers cause."

To punish persons younger than 21 who drink in Wisconsin and then drive in Illinois, the bill calls for automatic one-year driver's license revocation for underage drivers convicted of DUI. A second conviction would result in revocation of license until the driver is 21 or for one year, whichever period is longer.

"The state line has come to be known as 'blood border,' and this legislation could reduce the senseless accidents caused by drinkers who cross the line," Schaffer said.

Geo-Karis Names Chairman

Sen. Adeline J. Geo-Karis, Republican candidate for state comptroller, has announced that Ambassador Paul H. Robinson, Jr., of Lake Bluff, has agreed to serve as her general chairman for the committee for Geo-Karis for State Comptroller, and Mr. Edmund B. Thornton, of Ottawa, will serve as co-chairman for the committee.

Ambassador Robinson was nominated by President Ron Reagan on June 5, 1981, to be U.S. Ambassador to Canada. An international businessman prior to his appointment, Ambassador Robinson headed a firm of specialist brokers in group insurance and mutual funds. He founded and served as president of Robinson, Inc., along with developing Robinson Administrative Services, Inc. and Robinson-Coulter Ltd., London. He has served on the executive board of the Chicago Council of the Boy Scouts of America and is a member of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, among other prominent organizations.

Thornton is the chairman of the LaSalle County Republican Central Committee. He is chairman and chief executive officer of the Ottawa Silica Company in Ottawa. He is also a leader in various conservation, political, architectural preservation, historical and business groups.

Thornton has been responsible for many civic contributions and has received numerous awards, including the Conservation Service Award—the highest civilian award from the Dept. of Interior.

To Meet May 12

The Retired Teachers Assn. of Lake County will hold its annual spring luncheon at the Gurnee Holiday Inn, 6161 W. Grand Ave., at noon on Monday, May 12. A pre-luncheon-get-acquainted period will begin at 11:30 a.m.

Highlighting the meeting will be the honoring of Orlin and Mary Trapp as the "Retired Teachers of the Year" (of Lake County) for their many contributions to the teachers association, as well as other educational, church and community organizations.

Two other retired teachers will also be honored. They are Cecelia Fabrycki, who has been nominated by the Lake County Retired Teachers Assn. for the AARP-NRTA Community Service Award, and Jeanne Casey, who is the LCRTA nominee for the Lake County Council for Seniors award.

Offer Tips For Therapy Month

During May, National Occupational Therapy Month, the Lake County Health Dept. offers some tips for helping injured or disabled older family members to live more comfortably at home:

--if you have a parent recuperating or living with you, encourage him or her to maintain a daily routine. Make sure there are household tasks for your parent to do such as folding laundry, drying dishes and setting the table. If possible, get your parent involved in senior activities. Call Catholic Charities at (312) 623-6700 for information on a local group in your area.

--listen to the desires of your relative regarding living arrangements and honor them as much as possible. There is the story of an elderly woman whose children insisted she spend alternating periods of time in their homes. The children thought they were providing the best possible care for their mother until they observed her becoming more confused trying to cope with two very different households.

--if your relative wants to live alone but is unable to live totally independently at home, look for housing that has been especially adapted for the elderly. Call the Lake County Housing Authority at (312) 949-2299 for information. Modern conveniences such as microwave ovens for re-warming soups and stews, and lightweight kitchen utensils that can be managed with one hand are appreciated gifts.

A variety of part time, low cost or free services are available to help people live independently. Call Catholic Charities at (312) 623-6700 for homemaker services. Call your local hospital to see if they have Lifeline Emergency Service (a computerized instantaneous communication between the subscriber and the hospital).

Approval Of Hospital Draws Mixed Reaction

After voting nine to two in January against the proposal by the Chicago Medical School (CMS) and Humana, Inc. of Louisville, Kentucky to build a tertiary care facility in North Chicago, the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board (IHFPB) reversed itself on May 1. In a seven to two vote, the board decided to issue a certificate of need for a medical teaching facility at CMS.

Reaction throughout the county was mixed. Herman Finch, chairman of the board for CMS was jubilant. "From the very beginning, it has been our desire to open the door to the existence of educational and technological advances that would be in the best interest of everyone," Finch said. "Change is always difficult to accept."

Donald Wasson, president of Victory Memorial Hospital, did not share Finch's jubilation. "Our position is that we are studying the options that are open to us," Wasson said. "We can: 1) file an appeal on the decision; 2) toss everything into the pot and cooperate fully with Humana; 3) partially cooperate with Humana or; 4) remain completely independent. We will present the pros and cons of each position to our board of directors and they will decide what position we will take."

Wasson said that he looked for a decision to be made by the board on how to proceed within a week.

Eugene Pritchard, president of the Medical Center of Lake County (Condell Hospital), was more ready to simply accept the decision. "Of course, I was not in favor of approval," Pritchard said, "but now that they are approved, I suppose we'll accept them as another hospital in Lake County. We will cooperate with them when it is to our mutual benefit and we will go our own way when it is not."

Asked if he had any plans to appeal the decision, Pritchard said, "No. To fight them now is not only an uphill battle - it's straight up."

North Chicago officials and business leaders were far more enthused about the decision. Dr. Marshall A. Falk, vice-president and dean of students at CMS, extended an open hand to other Lake County hospitals. "We are ready to pursue a mutually advantageous and uniformly beneficial working relationship with the medical and lay community," he said.

North Chicago Mayor Bobby Thompson said that the construction of the medical facility would be one of the biggest things to happen in the history of the town. "The construction of this facility could add as many as 1400 to 1500 jobs to the city," Thompson said.

Bob Byrne, president of the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the citizens committee that worked for approval of the facility, said that CMS was already a fantastic asset that would now get even better.

"Networking (between Lake County hospitals) is the key to the prosperity of all concerned. By upgrading our overall facilities, we can get more people to come to Lake County. Now people won't have to jump on a Greyhound bus to get tertiary care, because we have a facility in our backyard," Byrne said.

Provided that there are no long appeals, supporters hope to see the hospital break ground by October 1.

The Time Machine

FIFTY YEARS AGO: May 7, 1936

Antioch Democrats Einar Sorenson and Charles Cermak, Jr. attended the state convention and cheered for Governor Henry Horner.

The federal government approved two WPA construction projects for Lake County. The work was to improve sewers in Highland Park and streets in Winthrop Harbor. Meanwhile, Jim Thompson's dad was fishing on Grass Lake hoping that he would one day have a son who would build Illinois and abolish the need for the WPA.

The editorial page advised young men to set up their own retirement plan and not to depend on social security to provide for their needs in their old age.

The Antioch Library conducted a book drive to supply depression-depleted shelves.

It was reported that "radio death-waves" might offer a final solution in the war on pesky insect hordes.

The Antioch Fruit and Grocery Market advertised that they would take eggs in payment of bills.

THIRTY YEARS AGO: May 10, 1956

An interim census revealed that Antioch had reached a population of 1,802, an increase of 495 people since the regular 1950 census.

A drive to raise $200,000 for the purpose of building a private school was announced by the Prince of Peace Catholic Church in Lake Villa. The need for a school was caused, in part, by overcrowding at St. Peter's school in Antioch.

Little Jim Thompson went fishing with his dad on Grass Lake. Little Jim called it 'little Grassy Lake,' a fond reference that he would never quit using.

James D. Dill, 16, of rural Antioch was shot in the leg by police while fleeing from a stolen station wagon.

The editorial page opposed federal aid to libraries because "once federal authority and federal money step in, local authority, local initiative, and local effort wither."

Louise Portalski became the bride of Joseph Gutowski on Saturday, May 5 at St. Peter's church

TEN YEARS AGO: May 5, 1976

Antioch Mayor Robert C. Wilton (dressed as Abraham Lincoln) and wagon master Al Mavis came through town in a horse-drawn covered wagon in honor of the bi-centennial.

The Antioch village board approved the funding for an extra tennis court to be put up at Jensen Park.

Senator Barry Goldwater warned on the editorial page that the U.S. was losing its military and economic strength.

Big Jim Thompson was in the midst of the campaign that would elect him governor and would lead him, ten years later, to visit the Chain O' Lakes and fondly reminisce about his childhood weekends spent fishing on "little Grassy Lake."

Two shutout victories brought Antioch High School back into the race for conference baseball champions, raising the Sequoia record to 7-4, only one game behind division co-leaders Warren and Lake Zurich.

Announce School

Since the State of Illinois does not provide financial support for summer school, Antioch Community High School must assess a tuition charge. The fee this year will be $44 per semester course (1/2 credit), $22 for 1/4 credit classes and $55 for co-op (1 credit). A student may enroll in a maximum of two semester courses during the summer.

Summer school begins on Thursday, June 19, and will end on Friday, Aug. 1. Thursday, July 3, and Friday, July 4, will be days of vacation. Students who are planning a vacation during the time summer school is in session should not enroll in summer school.

Tuition for summer school must be paid in full at the time of registration. Students who have outstanding debts with Antioch Community High School will not be permitted to register until their responsibilities are met.

Students who should be considering summer school are those who have failed courses during the regular school year, those who wish to take required courses early so as to have room for more electives during the school year, and those who wish to enrich their summertime activities.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

I HAVE BEEN thinking this week about the squabble that is going on among the Republicans here in town. It kind of reminds me of the days when my husband, Andrew, and I used to raise chickens.

That was before we moved to Antioch. We had a farm down in Red Bay, Alabama. It was over 100 acres, but those were tough times for anyone trying to farm, especially in that rocky, muddy, clay that passed for soil. Sometimes I thought that we were growing rocks, because that's what we had the most of.

Getting back to the chickens, though, there was always only one rooster that ruled the roost. As dumb as chickens are, most of them understood when to challenge the head rooster and when to keep cool. A tough rooster could usually rule for a year to a year and a half without much of a challenge.

But those birds sensed when the top bird was growing weak. Usually a couple of young cocks would challenge the old rooster before any of them would actually overthrow him. The thing was, though, that once the old rooster was seriously challenged, even if he won, he never got any rest again until he was beat. Every time he'd turn around after the first challenge, there would be another young cock looking for a fight.

I remember one old bird we had that survived for nearly two years. He was the most beat-up looking thing you ever saw when a younger rooster finally killed him. Most of his tail feathers had been pulled out and he was blinded in one eye. His comb had been ripped up terribly. You had to admire the tenacity of the old rooster.

Of course, roosters have more reason to fight than politicians, because the penalty for failure in the world of ambitious roosters is usually death.

The way I see it, both Chuck Kempf and Jim Fields are nice enough young fellows. Kempf may or may not beat Fields in his quest for dominance of the Antioch Republican party. Just the fact that Fields has been seriously challenged, though, probably means that he won't have much peace in the future whether he beats Kempf or not. There's a whole bunch of other nice, young fellows watching this thing real close, looking for signs of weakness.

ANYONE OVER 65 and needing to take the driver's test should call the department of parks and recreation at (312) 395-2160 now. Glenda Tomaschik is taking registration for the classes of May 12 and 19. The classes will be held at the Antioch Senior Center.

Both classes will run from 10 a.m. till noon. These will be the last classes for two months. Make sure to bring a pencil and paper for notes.

THERE ARE QUITE a few birthdays and anniversaries this week. I hear there will be a big birthday party for an up and coming 40 year old on May 12. You made it, Ardeen Harris. I know you may think it's terrible but Annie Mae has been there twice - it ain't so bad. Just think of the birthdays that come and go and no one notices - this one got you a lovely party from your friends! I hear the neighbors joined in on the surprise and you got some very nice things. Hey, you can get Marie Brausam yet. She thinks being 40 is a joke, but her day will come - and you know what they say about paybacks.

Louise and Joe Gutowski celebrated 30 years of wedded bliss on May 5. Dave and Barrie Gutowski celebrated two years.

Birthday celebrants this week are Dennis Heinbrodt, Jr., Lynda Fields, Sue Haley, Pat Lorenz, Dee Lang, and Sue Koppa - just to name the few I have heard of.

I hear there is some red pens floating around town with an inscription - someone is going to be 50 on May 30. Have you readers seen any? If so, let me know who it is.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19)

The Arian charm is about to help you nail down an important deal. But you do need to have more facts to make your case air-tight. Get them - then go get 'em!

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20)

Information is strength. What you know enhances your chances for beating the competition; what you don't know can hurt you. So, if you want to earn more, learn more.

Gemini (May 21-June 20)

An on-the-job complication can be traced to someone who doesn't know how to keep secrets. Your knack for handling sensitive problems helps you work this one out successfully.

Cancer (June 21-Jul. 22)

Vexing money matters soon ease as lunar aspects move into a less stressful period. Expect offers that will help you add to your income through another line of work.

Leo (Jul. 23-Aug. 22)

The Leonine gift for mixing business and pleasure pays off again. Expect to make an important contact while on a holiday trip. Be sure to follow through on agreements.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Ease up on yourself. Taking on too many responsibilities could overtax even your high energy reserves. Take a well-deserved break from your usual routine.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Recreation is your watchword. You really do need to re-create your depleted energy levels after that long intensive work period. Enjoy a needed change of pace.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

Enjoy some time alone, but don't shut out friends and kin completely. Try to balance your need for solitude at this time with the benefits of being with your loved ones.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Offer aid and comfort to an unhappy friend but be careful not to be drawn into an emotionally morose morass. Teaching efforts are particularly favored at this time.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

You need to make the right impression, but false modesty isn't your style. So don't pretend to be a shrinking violet when you know you're at your best in full bloom.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Honesty is still the best policy. But you risk losing an important friendship if you put a premium on absolute frankness. Handle this problem with more sensitivity.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20)

Just when you thought you were caught in the romantic doldrums, the tide begins to turn. A very special "catch" will soon start to angle for a more permanent commitment from you.
